EDITORIAL

FOR another year St. Mary's has been about its appointed task. Our record is a very human one—a kaleidoscope of joys and sorrows, of gains and set-backs; some of sufficient importance to attract outside attention, most provoking a reaction only in the lives of those immediately concerned.

Many will remember this as a sad year—overshadowed by the deaths of Father P. Walsh and Fr. T. O'Brien. One had completed a long and fruitful apostolate of teaching; the other was taken in the vigour of his prime, suddenly. They will both be missed in St. Mary's by the staff, by the parents, by the pupils present and past. May God reward them for their generous work and grant them eternal rest!

On the other hand, the Community had the joy of celebrating two Silver Jubilees of Ordination. Father Walter Kennedy has spent no less than twenty-four of his twenty-five years as a priest, in St. Mary's and for St. Mary's. His friends—and all who have come in contact with him are his friends—wish him every blessing on this happy occasion and look forward to benefitting still more in the future from his kindness, talents and experience. Father John Hourigan, in the course of his twenty-five years as a priest, worked as a missionary in Africa and as Bursar in Kimmage Manor and then in the Novitiate at Kilshane before being appointed to St. Mary's in 1962. He is now the competent and kindly Dean of the Junior School where he carries on the fine traditions established by Fr. Gilmore and Fr. O'Brien. We wish him many more years of fruitful ministry in St. Mary's.

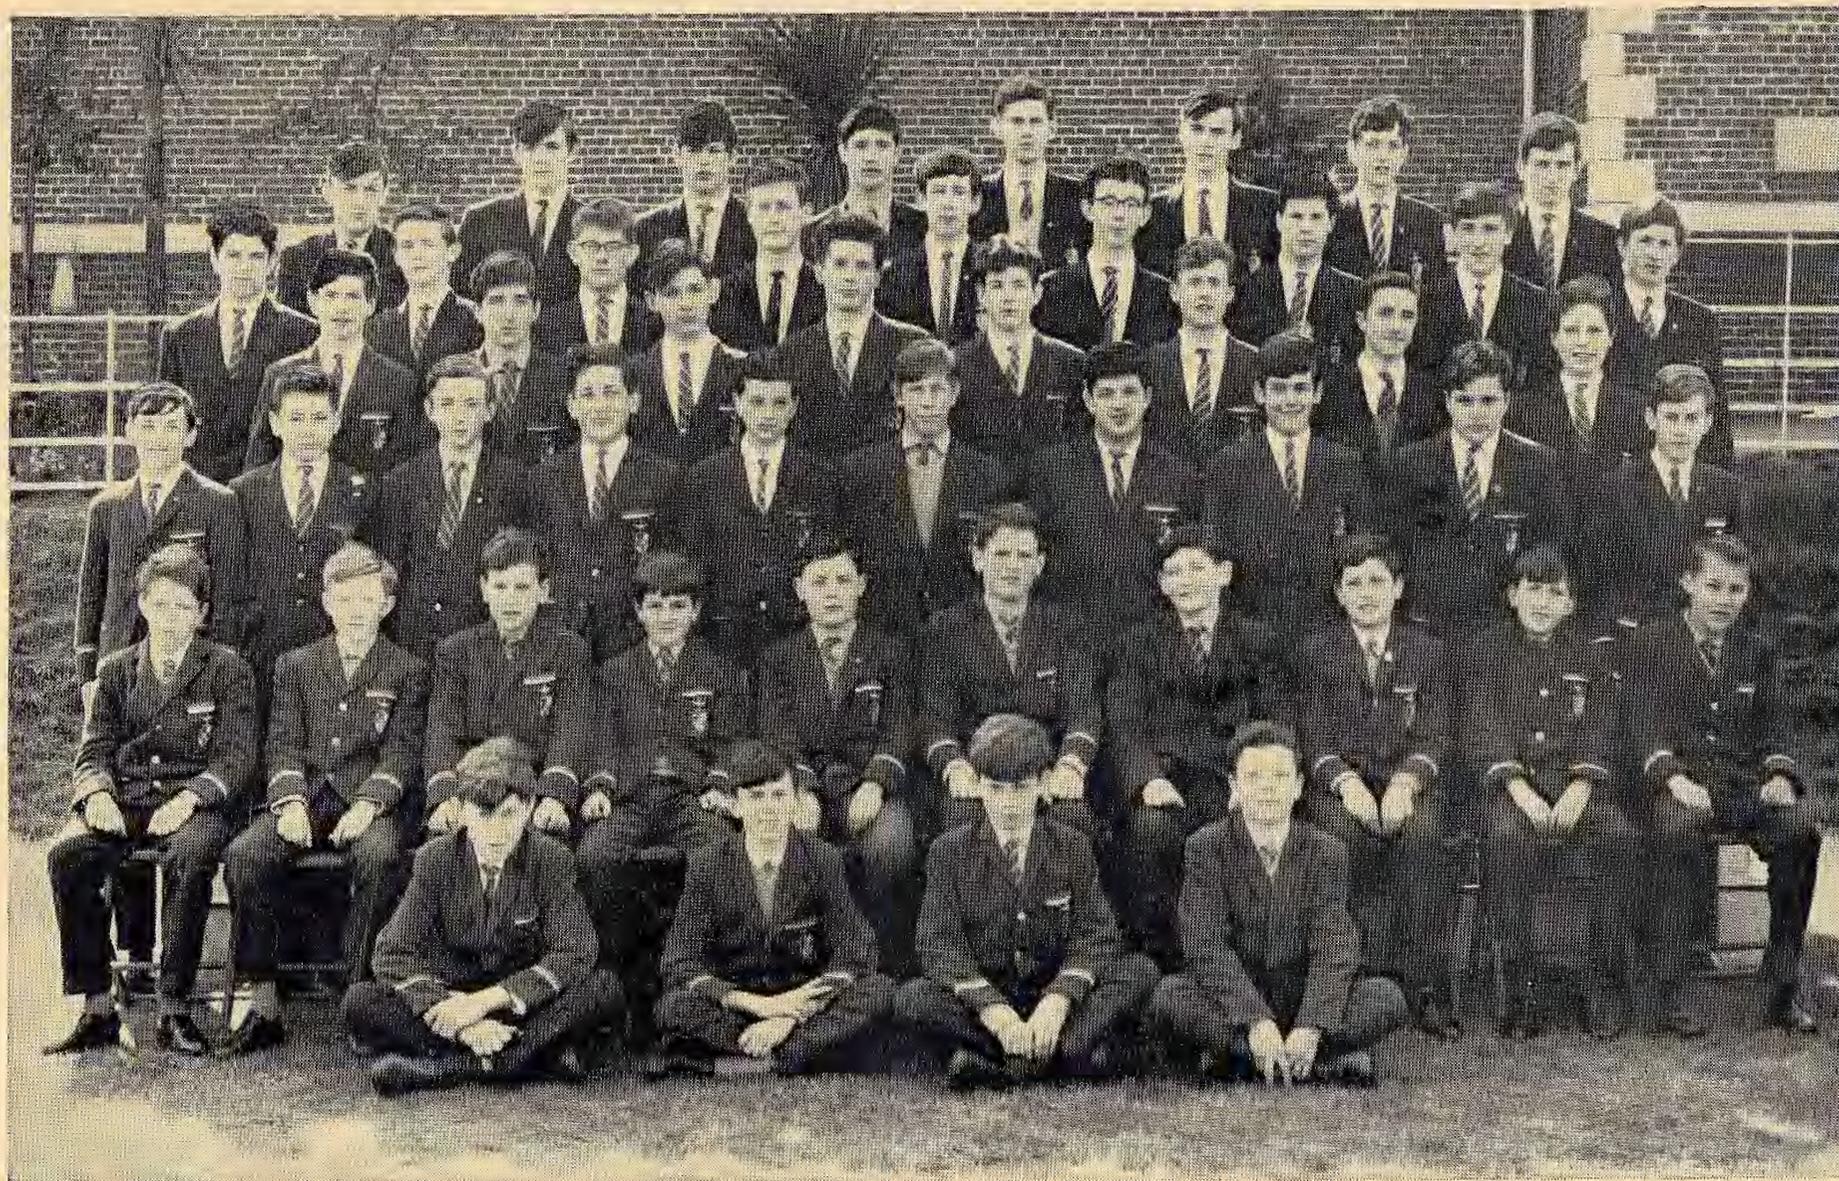

Inevitably there have been changes of staff. We were sorry to lose the services of Fr. R. Kissane who worked so hard both as teacher and Dean of Studies. The magnificent results in Latin in the public examinations over the past number of years bear ample testimony to his gifted teaching and his unremitting efforts. We wish him every success in the responsibilities of his new post as professor of Philosophy at the Bigard Memorial Seminary in Enugu, Eastern Nigeria. He has been succeeded at St. Mary's by Fr. S. Moore who thus resumes the post he relinquished in 1958 when he left St. Mary's to teach in Collège du St. Esprit, Mauritius. Another to leave us is Father H. Scott who taught here since 1962 and did excellent work. To replace him we welcome back Fr. D. Moloney who already taught here in 1959-60.

With the departure of Mr. Michael O'Mahoney, the Junior School will not be the same for those of us who had come to regard him as a "fixture" there. For close on twenty years he rendered loyal service and we wish him every success in his new post. Miss C. O'Brien had a very joyful reason for leaving our staff—the occasion of her recent marriage. While regretting the loss to St. Mary's we wish her God's blessing in her married life.

Leaving personalities and coming to the events of the year, everything else is outshone by our success in winning the Senior Rugby Cup. Congratulations to every one of the team and to the trainer Fr. Kennedy who will have this happy memory of 1966 along with his jubilee. The other chief "event" was the initiation of our building project to make needed renovations and extensions to the College.

The Editor wishes to avail himself of this opportunity to thank all those who have contributed to producing this year's annual—to those who wrote the articles, to the newspapers for permission to reproduce photos and reports, to the prefects and members of the staff, to the printers and the engraver.

UNION NOTES

Extract from the Hon. Secretaries' Report on Union Activities to the Annual General Meeting 22nd May, 1966.

ANNUAL DANCE was held in the Shelbourne Hotel on Thursday 28th October. The attendance was 266, last year being 296. While the actual attendance was down the nett profit was higher than last year.

ANNUAL MASS celebrated on Sunday 7th November in the College Chapel, was very well attended.

ANNUAL DINNER held in Clarence Hotel on Thursday 2nd December. The attendance was down from last year, 111 to 101. Arrangements have been completed to hold 1966/67 Dinner in the Rugby Club premises at Fortfield, by kind permission, on 1st December 1966.

ANNUAL TURKEY DRIVE was not held due to a decline in demand for this function. A new function was introduced to the Union Programme—a Social Evening, which was very successful and very profitable. A presentation was made by the Union Committee to each member of the Victorious School XV. A special presentation was made to Fr. Kennedy.

AFFILIATED CLUBS

RUGBY CLUB The 1st XV under Denis Hickie's leadership enjoyed a most successful season and was narrowly beaten in the final in a most exciting match. The 2nd XV regained their hold on the Keating Cup seven-a-side Competition. The victorious School Team were entertained to dinner on the Club premises.

L.T.C. The St. Mary's College L.T.C., had a most enjoyable season. Members new and old, reaped the benefit of the improvements to the Club accommodation.

MARIAN BOYS CLUB decided to raise funds by forming a Golden Guinea Club. This proved a most successful method of acquiring new funds.

Honorary Secretary's Report 1965-66

It can justifiably be said that the past season has seen a very great enhancement of the Club's prestige. The position in regard to playing standards and resources and to financial standing has been greatly improved.

So far as the playing record of the past year is concerned the greatest feature has been the performance of the First team. From the very start of the season the Captain, Denis Hickie, showed the drive and initiative which were to typify his leadership during the year. After a period of consolidation the team established a reputation for playing good football and winning matches. From the end of November to the close of the season the team lost only two matches—to Waterloo and in the Cup Final to Terenure. The match with Waterloo, played in Liverpool, broke new ground for the Club and the performance of the team, in losing 13-11 created a very big impression among Waterloo members and players, so much so that a return match has been arranged for next season. The season finished with one of the hardest fought cup campaigns in the Club's history. Prior to the final, we had played and beaten two of the leading teams in the competition, University College and Old Belvedere in two of the most exhausting matches ever experienced in the Cup. In one of the best cup finals ever seen in Lansdowne Road our team, beset by injuries, was very narrowly beaten by Terenure. While the disappointment was very great we must congratulate our team for their part in making the final such a memorable one, and Terenure on their wonderful achievement in winning the Cup for the first time. Our congratulations are also due to Denis Hickie on gaining interprovincial honours, to Eddie O'Dwyer who was also honoured interprovincially and at Final Trial level, and to Ned Carmody who was chosen to represent Dublin.

While the first team carries a great responsibility in that it is the "showcase" of a Club, the real strength lies in the other teams. We are very fortunate in the quality of the captains and members of all the teams from the 1st down to the "3rd E". We fielded more teams this year than ever before in the history of the Club and it can proudly be said that they all contributed to enhancing its good reputation.

The second and third teams played extremely well in their League competitions but without very much luck. The second team was beaten in the Metropolitan Cup after extra time by a very good Terenure team which went on to reach the final. The third team, after drawing with Wanderers in the Cup were very narrowly but unluckily beaten in the replay.

This year, there was, for the first time, a 3rd A League and we had high hopes that, like the Moran Cup and the Col. Winters Memorial Cup, our team would be the first to win it but the demands made on this very good team, through having to "sub up" players because of injuries, were too great and it was not our year although the 3rd A team did extremely well to reach the semi-final of the Moran Cup. The 3rd B team reached the semi-final of the Col. Winters Memorial competition but were beaten by De La Salle in a very exciting game. The 3rd C team made an early exit from the Cup but nevertheless, this team, together with the 3rd D. team had an enjoyable season. Among the difficulties with which these teams have to contend are the scarcity of opposition and the cancellation of matches because of bad weather. If there should be a fairly long spell of bad weather, pitches are required to play postponed cup and league matches for higher teams and 3rd C and 3rd D matches have to go by the board. The question of arranging extra matches can be solved only by the Leinster Branch recognising the importance of these teams to the game and dealing with the problem on an organised basis.

The Club appears to specialise in "Seven-a-Side" competitions. This year the first team sent a "sevens" side to Belfast for Collegians' annual competition and after being beaten in the first round of the main competition, won the subsidiary competition very convincingly. The second team retained, after some very fine performances, the Keating Cup.

The work of the Captains and Team Managers during the year was outstanding. The ever present difficulty of arranging training and tactical sessions was increased by the very long periods of weather so bad that grounds were completely unplayable. Joe Fanagan had to retire from managership of the 2nd team and was succeeded by Sean O'Byrne, whom we were glad to see back in the Club after many years in New Zealand. John Kilmurray, captain of the 3rd A, played most of his rugby on higher teams during the season and Don Purcell proved a more than adequate substitute. Due to a severe shoulder injury Dave Curtis had to retire very early in the season and he was very ably succeeded by Pat Drennan.

Jim Burke was another player forced to retire from the game because of injury. He took over the job of organising 3rd D matches and did it extremely well.

The running of matches at 3rd B, C and D levels would not be possible without the services of some of our members as referees. This is a thankless job and often has to be done at short notice. Playing members and those recently retired from playing are encouraged to offer their assistance to the Match Committee in this respect.

As I have said, the work of all the Captains and team managers was outstanding. They were, however, greatly assisted by a reorganised Match Committee under the Chairmanship of Frank Reddy. All the members attended their appointed matches regularly, and consequently, the selection of teams was made easier despite the fact that there was a large intake of new players whose form was not very well known. Frank Reddy was a great help to the Match Committee, both in discussion and in his handling of the meetings. Billy Fagan acted as Secretary to the Match Committee and was, as usual, extremely efficient. With increasing membership, the work of the Team Secretary is becoming more difficult each year but still Denis Nagle carried out his duties extremely efficiently and, most of the time, with a smile. His work was eased to some extent by the great work done by his two very able assistants—his father and mother. The Club owes a debt of gratitude to them all.

A feature of the season was that the Committee decided, on a trial basis, to entertain visiting teams in the club house. The first time this was done was on the occasion of a visit from both Carlow and Delvin. The experiment was such an outstanding success that for the remainder of the season, all entertaining of visiting teams was done in the same manner. The remarks of all the visiting teams were highly complimentary and, so far as the Club is concerned, the results were very satisfactory, both socially and financially. The thanks of every member should go to Charlie Cullen, Bill Gray, Ken Sparrow and the other members who provided first class meals very efficiently and very cheerfully.

The Club, I am proud to say, has a very high reputation in rugby circles and a lot of the credit for this must go to those who represent us in the administration of the game and at public functions. I am referring mainly to three members, Dermot Smyth, Gerry Boyd and Lorcan Gogan. Dermot Smyth is our representative on the Leinster Branch and this year's President of it. He is also a member of the "Irish Five". Anyone who has had the opportunity of seeing and hearing Dermot at either meetings or on big occasions can readily understand why he is held in such high regard by everyone concerned in the administration of Rugby in Ireland. Gerry Boyd is now in his second year as Honorary Treasurer of the Leinster Branch and has already succeeded in making his impression, not only for his efficiency and good humour, but also for his speeches. Lorcan Gogan, our President, has had an arduous year. He represented the Club at every function to which he was invited and is a welcome figure in any clubhouse in Dublin. His courteous and generous manner has made many a friend for the Club. Our congratulations are due to Tommy Kearns on being chosen to referee the "Services" match at Twickenham. And to Matt Gilsenan and Vincent McGovern on being selected for several important games during the season.

On the social side of the Club's activities, there were some noteworthy successes. The Annual Dinner was almost as big a success as the first one the previous year and once again the Dinner Committee of Matt Gilsenan, Joe Fanagan and the Captain are to be congratulated. Frank Reddy undertook the organising of the Theatre Evening. His Committee of Paddy Farrell, Peter Prenderville, Eddie Veale and Paddy Devlin showed what members who were prepared to work hard and efficiently could do. With the help of Frank Reddy and of Mrs. Reddy they made the occasion one of the most enjoyable nights of the year.

All through the year the Saturday night dances are held. They don't just run themselves, they have to be organised and the amount of organisation required is very great. This work has to be done each week since the income from the dances is the biggest source of revenue which the Club has. Since the dances were started, Gerry Cahill has been in charge. In the past two and a half years, he has put into the Club more work than most members do in a lifetime of membership. The efficient running of the dances has made them a success and Gerry Cahill is principally responsible for their efficient running. He has asked the Committee to find a successor as he is getting married shortly and will not be able to devote sufficient time to running the dances.

The Club is very deeply indebted to Gerry for the work he has done and he deserves our sincere thanks and best wishes for his married life.

During the year, Gerry Cahill received great assistance from the Senior Stewards, Eamon Carmody, Liam Birkett, Billy Byrne and Barry O'Donovan and from those stewards who turned up regularly on their appointed nights. There was, however, great difficulty in getting senior members of the Club to assist at the dances. The work is not very demanding and the number of times in the year each member is expected to be on duty could be kept to a minimum if there were more volunteers.

The playing of matches and the holding of functions all depend on a great amount of work being done behind the scenes. The pitches were the subject of very favourable comment, both by the newspapers and by visiting teams. The Grounds Committee of Joe Fanagan, Eamon Carmody and Henry Roche undertook a programme of improvement last summer and the results were excellent. While there is still quite a lot to be done, they are to be congratulated on what has already been achieved. The repair and maintenance of the pavilion was in the very capable hands of Benny Lynch and he achieved the maximum results for the minimum of money—the Hon. Treasurer wouldn't give him any more.

The running of the Bar this year was excellent. John Reddy again devoted most of his free time to it and as well, was prepared to take on any other work the Committee asked him to do. Liam Derham was responsible for staffing the Bar and congratulations are due to both of them and to the many Bar helpers.

The supplementary activities of the Club continue to progress. There was plenty of support for both Badminton and Darts. Bart Fitzsimon, Don Purcell and Ned Carmody looked after Badminton arrangements, while Tommy Dorgan and Henry Roche organised the Darts competitions and matches. The Golfing Society was efficiently looked after by Joe Fanagan and Benny Lynch.

The Club has, as usual, received a great amount of assistance and advice from the College and our special thanks are due to the President, Very Rev. Fr. Murray and to Father Walter Kennedy for their help during the year. It was a great pleasure for us to be able to congratulate them on winning the Senior Schools' Cup.

The Annual Dance, run jointly by the Unions and the Club, was quite enjoyable and successful. The major part of the support for the dance, both in running it and in the attendance at it comes from the Union and those closely connected with it consider that it would be an even greater success if the Club members took a more active interest in it.

Throughout the year, it was very obvious that the brunt of the work was falling on a small number of members and if the Club is to continue to progress, more of the members will have to help. There were promising signs this year that some of the younger members were quite willing and capable enough to undertake responsible work and it is to be hoped that there will be many more in the future.

I am very much indebted for assistance during the year to every member of the Committee, but particularly to our President, Lorcan Gogan, to the Hon. Treasurer, Jack Sheerin, who seemed to do as much secretarial work as I did and to Billy Fagan, whose devotion to the Club is expressed in the tremendous amount of work he does without fuss or bother. I would like to give my personal thanks to each of them and to all those members of the Club who put into it, as much as, or more than they got from it.

H. McGUINNESS,
(Hon. Secretary).

News of the Past

Patrick W. Redmond ('36). Our sincere congratulations to Paddy on his election to the Presidency of St. Mary's College Past Pupils' Union.

He had the honour of playing on the J.C.T. in 1934, the first time the College won the Junior Cup. He played in the back-row all the season, and right through the cup campaign, but unfortunately was not fit for the final and could not play. He was very keen on Gymnastics in school and was a prominent member of the team which won the Shield that still graces the wall in the front parlour. His speciality was the horizontal bar.

Paddy went to U.C.D. on leaving St. Mary's and took a 1st class Honours B.A. in Economics in 1939. He then qualified, with distinction, as a Chartered Accountant, after being three years articled to Messrs Reynolds McCarron & Co. He is now Assistant General Manager, as well as Marine and Aviation Manager of the Insurance Corporation of Ireland Ltd. He is Chairman of the Irish Institute Of Marine Underwriters, and has represented Ireland abroad at various technical conferences.

He played rugby for St. Mary's College Rugby Football Club for sixteen years after leaving school. Austin Norton just pipped him for the title of "oldest playing member of the Club" in his last year or two. Paddy will be remembered as a great tearaway forward, a whole-hearted team man and a frightening tackler.

We wish him a very successful year as President of the Union and many years of happy association with the affairs of the College and the Past Students.

Father P. Heerey, C.S.Sp., who recently celebrated the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood, belongs to a special epoch in the history of St. Mary's. He was professor here from 1917 to 1924 during the time when the College was a House of Senior Studies for Students of the Holy Ghost Congregation. We offer Fr. Heerey our congratulations and wish him a hearty "ad multos annos".

Sean O'Byrne ('39) In April 1955 Sean emigrated to New Zealand with his wife and took up a position in an Insurance Brokers Office in Wellington which is the political capital of the country.

In September he and his wife took up duties as a married couple on a 2,500 acre Sheep Station in the Wairarapa, which is situated approximately 60 miles north of Wellington. Here he learned to ride a horse, milk cows, dip, dag and dock sheep, muster both sheep and cattle, brand cattle, build corrals and do many other interesting jobs including making butter etc.

After six months on the Station, he and his wife returned to the city of Wellington, where after a short time, he took up another job in an Insurance Brokers Office. This was in March 1956. In 1959 he was made a Director of the Company and went to reside in Auckland which is the commercial capital of New Zealand.

In December 1961 he had the pleasure of coming home to Ireland on a business trip. His journey took him to Australia, Hong Kong, Rome, Paris, London, Dublin, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Honolulu and back to New Zealand. In 1964 Mrs. O'Byrne and the two children returned home to Ireland and Paul is now a pupil in St. Mary's. The following year, having put his affairs in order, Sean joined them in Dublin and in January of this year he was appointed to the Board of Frank Glennon Ltd., Insurance Brokers.

Joseph V. Ronaldson ('45) by a strange co-incidence was appointed on the same day as a Director of the same company as Sean O'Byrne. We wish them both every success in their careers.

Four years later he joined the Bank of West Africa Ltd., and worked in the London office till 1952 when he was transferred to Ghana (then the Gold Coast). He was here until early 1956 when he returned to London for a course of work-study at the Head Office on which he was occupied up to December 1958. He returned to Ghana in January 1959 and was posted to the Main Office with the rank of Assistant Manager. It was not long till in 1962 he became Manager of the Head Office. The following year he was elected a Fellow of the Institute of Bankers (England) and in 1964 he was promoted to the position of Assistant Executive Director of his Bank. This year he went a step higher and is now Executive Director for Ghana.

In addition to his work for his own company, Charlie is a member of the Board of Directors of two Government sponsored Banks—the National Investment Bank and the Agricultural Credit & Co-operative Bank. Since May 1965 he represents Ireland as Honorary Consul for Ireland in Ghana.

We offer Charlie our congratulations on achieving such rapid recognition of his merits and our good wishes for even more brilliant success in the future.

Obituary

Fr. Peter Walsh C.S.Sp

In Memoriam

WHEN the centenary story of St. Mary's comes to be written in 1990 the name of Father Peter Walsh who died on September 8th the Nativity of Our Lady, will loom large in the chronicle. For the most energetic years of his life were spent here—thirty three of them—from 1934 to 1966.

Born in Claremorris, Co. Mayo, over eighty years ago, he went to Blackrock College to pursue his secondary studies and there he joined the Congregation of the Holy Ghost Fathers. He was professed in the novitiate in France and having completed his philosophical and theological studies he was ordained in the Senior Scholasticate at Langonnet in Brittany, in 1916. His first appointment was to St. Mary's College, Port of Spain, Trinidad (West Indies) where he laboured with considerable success as a professor until 1932. In that year he joined the teaching staff of Rockwell College.

St. Mary's College Rathmines had been re-opened since 1926 and when in 1934 a new President was to be appointed the choice fell upon Father Walsh. Thus began his long association with our College—which terminated with his death only last September. The years of the early thirties were struggling ones for the resuscitated St. Mary's. Numbers were small, buildings were inadequate, funds were low and a small staff were hard put to cope with the ever-growing development. To bring St. Mary's into the front rank of the long-established secondary schools in the City and country, in every sphere of educational activity was the task to which Father Walsh immediately devoted his dynamic energies. Superior of the Community, President of the College, Dean of Studies and full-time professor, he stimulated and developed the whole academic programme with its courses, examinations, its debating and dramatic societies. He threw, in particular, a far-seeing eye to the development of the Junior School, seconding in every way the capable management of Father Gilmore in that department. He fostered piety in encouraging the development of the sodalities and introduced the the Legion of Mary and the College Scout Troop as fruitful fields of Catholic Action among the boys.

In the sphere of competitive games, with an urgency that refused to lie down under defeat, he encouraged the teams to take up the challenge thrown down by the larger and long-established schools and if in those days our defeats outnumbered our victories, nevertheless something more fundamental was achieved—a college 'do-or-die' spirit which is the stamp of our sporting activities even to this day. At that time, too, the re-establishment of the Past Students' Union claimed his attention. The ten years break in the continuity of the College (1916-1926) had been the death-blow to the Union of its Past Students. Father Ernest Farrell C.C. of the Dublin Archdiocese was already working at its revival. He found in the new President a sincere friend and patron and before long the Union was injected with vigorous life while the affiliated debating, dramatic, cricket and rugby clubs were attracting many members and pulsating with energy; a Praesidium of the Legion of Mary was established and a yearly contribution was given to a Mission Burse. There was hardly a meeting of these many associations which Father Walsh as 'ex-officio' member did not attend, advising, encouraging, stimulating. And it was in appreciation of his work for them that the St. Mary's Union presented him with a beautiful silver chalice in 1940—on the occasion of the silver jubilee of his priesthood.

The war years gave him an extra term of office as President. In 1941 he undertook the first major building scheme since the opening of the College back in the nineties, attenuated however on account of the austerity years. In 1945 on the appointment of Rev. Father Maguire as President, Father Walsh was nominated Vice-President, a post which he held through three subsequent presidencies until 1960. He retired from active teaching in that year but his interest and enthusiasm for everything connected with the college never flagged. He could view with legitimate satisfaction its unprecedented development—the large increase in numbers—over the 600 mark—the second and third major building scheme in 1952 and 1965 and the flourishing state of the Past Students' Union and its affiliated clubs.

For over thirty years St. Mary's alone filled the immediate perspective of his educational horizon. It was perhaps his 'felix culpa' that for him no other perspective mattered. And now in his declining years to be inactive, not to be involved in the thousand and one events of the daily progress of the College was perhaps his greatest cross. His failing sight deprived him of the consolation of prolonged reading but a clear mind kept him sufficiently interested in everything that was taking place around him; but interested with a certain other-world detachment, for his mental gaze was now on the horizon of heaven. His native piety cast in the mould of French spirituality during his many years of seminary life and deeply ingrained in his soul by a lifetime of meticulous regularity helped him to face with easy equanimity the evening of his remaining days. His hour of rising and retiring, the daily routine of the Community horarium, the many exercises of piety were all carried out with such exactitude that had the question been put to him as was put to a famous man: "To what do you attribute your unflinching punctuality," he might have answered with the latter—"I have a watch." He received the sacrament of Extreme Unction with canonical regularity during his last years and every Holy Communion was his Viaticum. Feeling that he would not live to see the Golden Jubilee of his priesthood he anticipated it six months in advance. It only remained for him to die. He did so quietly on the Nativity of Our Lady as he calmly answered the prayers for the dying.

"Will we get a free day?" was the whispered unwitting irreverence of one of the harum-scarum schoolboys of the new generation, when the news of his death was announced. We did. And as the funeral cortege passed down between ranks of the hundreds of the new St. Mary's, one could not help casting a glance over those thirty-two eventful years during which Father Walsh lived and laboured and prayed with a consuming energy that was braked only by death itself. His 'task' (a word he loved to use) completed—may his great soul rest in peace.

A Tribute

A landmark has gone. When the 'phone message, announcing the death of Father O'Brien on 15th March, was passed around, it seemed as if time stood still in St. Mary's. No one spoke, the shock and deep sorrow were too much for words. Father Terry, as he was known among ourselves, was the life and soul of the Community, as indeed he was of the different Communities in which he worked both here at home and in Africa. He was a big and generous man in every sense of the word.

During his years as Dean of the Junior School in St. Mary's, he gave himself in a most dedicated way to the apostolate of the christian education of youth, and the high ideals he had of his own vocation in life made a deep impression on all who came in contact with him. He endeared himself to the hosts of young boys who passed through his hands, and Mass Cards and the flowers and the crowds on the day of his funeral, bore ample testimony to the impression he made on those boys' parents.

Father O'Brien was a man of many fine qualities. It strikes me now that he is gone, that his most outstanding quality was his loyalty and attachment to the Congregation. When we received the Habit on Ascension Thursday, 1932, at St. Josephs, Rockwell, we believed we had then achieved our life's ambition! I venture to say, that was one of the happiest days in his life. After his death we found, in his own handwriting, the following words written into his copy of the Rules and Constitutions: "Be faithful, and I will give thee the Crown of Life." While being attached to the Congregation, he was at the same time deeply attached to his own family circle, which he loved and where he was beloved. He is mourned not only in Rathmines and Bray, but far beyond. After the news of his death reached Nigeria, letters of sympathy began to arrive at Kimmage Manor, some to be readdressed to his family, though eighteen years had passed since he left that country.

REV. FR. TURLOUGH O'BRIEN, C.S.sp.

Here was a good Priest, a faithful Religious and a gentleman always, who has left us a noble example and who now must be reaping a rich reward in the High Halls of Heaven.

Very Rev. John McLaughlin, P.P., who belonged to the "Old St. Mary's," died on January 21st 1966 aged 67 years. He was well-known in boxing circles and was a former treasurer of the Irish Amateur Boxing Association.

Ordained in Maynooth in 1922 he was first appointed assistant cnrate in Rathfarnham. He was then appointed chaplain to the army and attached to the Beggar's Bush School of Music, Portobello Barracks, and Collins Barracks. Having served twenty-one years with the army, he was appointed cnrate in Athy, and in 1956 he became Parish Priest of Celbridge. He was brother of Dr. Thomas A. McLaughlin who initiated the Shanuon electricity scheme; of Mr. Niall McLanghlin, solicitor, Rathgar; Sr. Martin of the Irish Sisters of Charity. He was nncle of Rev. Brian McLaughlin, C.S.Sp. and Paul McLaughlin both past pupils and of Peter McLanghlin, a present pupil.

Liam Mulcahy ('53), brother of Declan and Hugh, was killed in a plane tragedy in Idaho in June of this year. He had been working in Alaska for an American Company for some years but his intentions were to come home and settle in business in Dublin. Whenever he was home ou leave he made it a point to visit the College. We offer our sincere and prayerful sympathy to his father, mother, brothers and sisters.

Kenneth McArdle ('54) was one of a family of four boys, all of whom were pupils of St. Mary's. He took a keen interest and played an active part in all school activities. During his last two years he was a great legionary, and kept up his interest in the Legion after leaving school. The rest of his time was spent with motor cars. He was director of a large garage in the city and he was interested in motor-racing. He died as the result of an unfortunate accident on the Dunboyne circuit this Summer. To his parents and family we offer our deepest sympathy.

David Jordan ('60) took a great interest in Dramatics when he was in St. Mary's. He played in Charley's Aunt in 1960 and will be remembered especially for his portrayal of the character of Sydney Carton in "The Only Way" at Christmas 1958.

He kept up his interest in dramatics at U.C.D. and was a prominent member of the Dramatic Society. He had a part in the popular Television series "The Riordans" at the time of his death, and had hopes of making a career on the stage.

At school he was always bright and cheerful. We were shocked at the news of his untimely death in Colwyn Bay, North Wales. We offer his parents and sisters our sincere sympathy in their loss.

THE MUMMY AND THE MUMPS

By

Larry E. Johnson

IN 1963 we staged the tensely moving drama of St. Thomas More 'A Man for All Seasons' and in 1964 on the quarter-century of Shakespeare's birth we did Twelfth Night—both with considerable success. However, if you have no other end in view but sheer entertainment, to have your audience rocking in the aisles and momentarily happy, farce is your medium. So this year we travelled across the Atlantic and decided to stage "The Mummy and the Mumps" an impossible farce of 1925 vintage, by Larry Johnson. It has long been the custom on this side of the ocean to decry American education. Why, it is hard to fathom. In the sphere of medicine and of the practical sciences and in technology America leads the world, while in the film industry, the greatest mass-educational medium there is, she holds almost undisputed sway from Alaska to the antipodes. Certainly we can say that the Americans have given to the English Language a flexibility and a richness of vocabulary that is unique. And if on the stage their actors are inclined to be on the whole melodramatic in all their interpretations one cannot but admire their ability to speak and to deliver the usually well-written and racy scripts. It is this ease and volubility which American actors possess so naturally that make the handling of their scripts by actors in our islands so difficult, although other things being equal an Irishman will approach more easily to the American interpretation than an Englishman. However, this does not mean the slavish attempt to imitate American accents which would be just as ridiculous as an American cast in an Irish play attempting to put on Irish brogues. So we were content to let the play get across by itself without any attempt to 'Americanise' it. It worked and we had the satisfaction of knowing that the net entertainment value was on a par with any of our staged farces of the past like "Charley's Aunt" or 'Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme'.

The story is one of the phoniest (pace my americanese!). But who will worry when it's farce? Sir Hector Fish a well-known English archaeologist is eagerly awaited at Fenella,—a select high-school for young ladies in New England,—by the foundress and principal, Miss Agatha Laidlaw. He is going to lecture on his favourite subject and is bringing with him an authentic Egyptian mummy. However an outbreak of mumps intervenes which causes Sir Hector to be quarantined and so prevents his coming. Back at Fenella it has prevented three of the young ladies, Dulcie Dumble, Maude Mullen and Ann Hampton from returning to their home towns. There too Bill Laidlaw, nephew of Miss Agatha, has come to spend his summer vacation and already he has become interested in Dulcie. To Fenella, chance also brings along an old school friend of Bill's—Francis Brisco—whom he has not met for years and who decides to give his proposed trip to Canada a miss when he unexpectedly renews acquaintance with Maude.

Complications begin when Agatha, knowing nothing of Sir Hector's quarantine, welcomes Brisco (Brisky) as the expected professor. However if Sir Hector does not arrive in person his mummy does 'this side up' and it falls to Ann, giving way to her feminine curiosity, to be introduced to a mummy of living flesh and blood when she opens the case—none other than Sir Hector himself who has outwitted the quarantine officers and made good his appointment with Fenella. Soon the complications become a riot with Sir Hector trying to prove his identity; with Brisky trying to play up to his assumed role and play it down at the same time; with the girls, the innocent 'victims' of circumstances; with Bill trying to keep each one from everyone else; and with Agatha in her most gracious mood blissfully in command of a situation which has got hopelessly out of hand. The situation gets more out of hand when the local sheriff and his posse arrive to arrest the escaped "quarantinee" and the press gets hold of the story through its reporter Miss Phoebe Beebe who means to get to the root of the matter and won't take up for an answer. The trick of mistaken identity is strained to the utmost in the production of three Sir Hectors and three Miss Laidlaws but finally the confusion has run its course and the curtain falls on a happy but improbable ending.

One had visions of Bob Hope and Bing Crosby in the roles of Brisky and Bill quipping their way as only they can, through such fast moving scenes. Neil O'Shea and Philip Bourke were called upon to co-star in these respective roles and it is to their credit that their hard work was rewarded in a convincing portrayal of these characters. Neil had the misfortune to be absent from many of the rehearsals because of a knee injury but he succeeded in the short time at his disposal in making good the loss. As the altogether-correct-and-stand-no-nonsense Principal of the exclusive school for girls, John Fanagan took on the role of Miss Agatha Laidlaw which he interpreted excellently; good diction and several appearances on the stage have given him an ease and flexibility of speaking and movement. His hands ('the where will I put them,' of most actors) are effortlessly expressive. We are never at a loss for girls on the St. Mary's stage and this year was no exception. Walter Scales the blonde-haired, expressionless empty-headed Dulcie Dumble was a fitting companion to her equally feather-headed friend Maude Mullen played by Gerard Walsh a new-comer to our stage. Ann Hampton as the most sensible of the girls but nonetheless with a strong sense of humour, was very well portrayed by Karl Opperman from First Year. He gave an excellent portrayal of the part which was well served by his easy stage movement and deportment and a fine speaking voice. The "Daily Deliverance" could have no other reporter than Phoebe Beebe. A name like that tells you everything of the fussy, inquisitive reporter who means to get to the root of things. Donal Donovan gave us just such a spirited interpretation with all the necessary decisiveness and precision. Desmond Cahill (likewise on the stage for the first time) cut a suitable figure in the slow-thinking but trigger-happy sheriff who succeeds in complicating things still more by his forthright investigations.

The difficult part of Sir Hector Fish, the credulous and absent-minded archaeologist, was taken on and ably portrayed by Peter Caffrey whose innate good sense of humour finds expression in a pleasing and flexible voice. Unlike the part of Feste the Jester which he played last year, where he positively provokes the fun, in the part of Sir Hector he is the unconscious victim of the interplay of ridiculous situations and must play the part with dead seriousness. This he succeeded in doing. No word yet has been said of the general factotum at Fenella, the irrepressible, harum-scarum and ungainly Racker who bobs in and out of the scenes with the rapidity of a fiddler's elbow. His thousand and one duties implicate him in every situation that arises, his illiteracy and forgetfulness make confusion doubly confused. He is the one character all will recall when memory of the play becomes dimmed. Dermot Harrington complete with buttons, pill-box and white hair standing at all angles was admirably cast for this comic yet demanding part.

But the Mummy and the Mumps went very near to being the play that wasn't. We had been coursing along nicely with our rehearsals and looked forward to the opening performance when flu and injuries struck us. Neil O'Shea just about managed to get to the stage in the last week. Philip Bourke could not attend the dress rehearsal. John Fanagan went to bed with flu after this rehearsal and we could not have a performance on Sunday. But the two following days worked wonders and our congratulations go to all who despite ailments great and small went on for the first performance on Tuesday. After that everything went well and the final performance the following Sunday was a triumphant finale to a tiring week. It remains to thank Conor Maguire and his team of stage-helpers who saw to it that all the props, crashes, hoots, bells, and appropriate motor-sounds were where and when they should be. In the green-room our real ladies—Mrs. Kidd-Duff, and Mrs. Smyth worked with Max-Factor efficiency to send our fictitious Principal and her bright young things of Fenella on their glamorous way. So ended our 1965 effort, this time the American scene—something very different yet well done, we like to think, despite our shortcomings.

SENIOR ENGLISH DEBATING SOCIETY

THE Senior English Debating Society got into its stride early in September and the Committee for the 1965-'66 season was as follows: Henry Murphy, Bernard Somers, Peter Caffrey, Desmond Cahill, Dermot Smyth, Philip Bourke, Paul Sullivan, and John Butler. Paul Sullivan agreed to act as secretary and the first meeting of the Society was held on 5th Oct. The motion was: "That sport is an effective antidote against weakness and love of ease, creates a sense of order and educates to self-control and self-sacrifice".

The Society had seven full-scale debates in the following seven months. Two of the most enjoyable occasions during the year were the debates in December and January against teams of Past Students, and we hope to have a repeat performance during the present season.

In March we took part in the Annual Safety First Association Debate and we ended the year with an impromptu session in April. Our thanks are due to all who took part in these debates and who spent so much time in preparation of speeches. We are grateful to Fr. C. Byrne for acting as chairman during the year. We were pleased to note that Lieut. Terry Browne distinguished himself in public speaking in the Cadet Course: we remember his many lively contributions to debates in the College. Finally, a word of congratulations to Peter Caffrey for winning the medal for Senior Debate.

The Legion of Mary

DURING the School Year 1965-1966, the two Praesidia—Stella Maris and Virgin Most Pure—carried on the fine traditions of the Legion which has been in existence in the College since 1939. The purpose of the Legion is that the members should sanctify themselves by helping others and in practice, this means by doing one hour of substantial work each week. The major work of the two praesidia is visiting St. Luke's Skin and Cancer Hospital in Rathgar. Some brothers have also worked at the Morning Star Hostel for destitute men. Each month, in conjunction with the praesidium in St. Louis Convent, a lively Patrician meeting is held, where a paper is read and discussion follows. Also, during the holidays, two brothers went to a parish in Birkenhead for a week to carry out a parish census for the clergy.

The following were the officers for the year :—

Stella Maris Praesidium

Pres. : Tim Kelly
Sec. : John Butler
Treas. : Philip Bourke

Virgin Most Pure Praesidium

Pres. : John McGettrick
Sec. : Bernard Somers
Treas. : Dermot Maloney

All these took an active part in the workings of the Curia, as well as directing the functioning of their praesidia. Meetings of the praesidia were held on Sundays at 11 o'clock. These were well attended during the term despite pressure of work and other activities. Father Darcy and Father O'Gorman were the spiritual directors and we would like to thank them for the valuable time they devoted to their work with the Legiou.

SENIOR RUGBY

THIS year, 1966, we again had the honour of capturing the Leinster Schools' Senior Cup, after what must have been one of the most difficult campaigns of the Competition. There were no easy matches, all four Cup games had to be fought with the utmost determination and purpose, from the back-to-the-wall, defensive opening game against Terenure, to the final against Newbridge, where twice a lead of three points had to be wiped out. It is a proof of the quality of the side that it was capable of rising to great heights and of coping with the varying situations as they came up in the different games. In all they showed sustained determination to win and to put everything into achieving that objective.

That this was a year in which success could be achieved was apparent from the beginning of the season—the required material was at hand and all were willing to put in the necessary hard work of training. Very quickly then the team fell into shape. There was a solid nucleus of six players from the previous year, and these were augmented by some very promising players from the J.C.T. The full back position varied during the year, as with the inability of Tom Doddy to turn out until after Christmas, Charlie Mullaney more often than not figured there, and was honoured by the Connaught selectors in that position. The speed and opportunism of George Saab soon made him a very dangerous wing, and Gerry Sharvin, on the opposite flank, developed more confidence as the season went on, and fully justified his selection by a magnificent try in the final. Centres Greg Smyth and Robin Bailey teamed up very successfully and with their speed and ability to see defensive gaps, scored some fine tries during the season. The half-back combination of John Moloney and Henry Murphy was no new one, as they had already operated as Juniors, and resuming an old partnership, gave us what is essential for the winning of any Rugby game—a constructive pair of halves. That they were that, was evident from what was one of the best tries of the competition, the try that won the Terenure game. Both halves were at all times capable of producing the unexpected, and it was this factor which was responsible for keeping the opposition in doubt.

The pack came together very quickly as with the big second row of Ronnie Foley and Dermot Byrne, locked by Billy Hooper, the essential pushing power was in position, and the jumping power in the line-out ready made. It took some time for the front row to stabilise, but eventually Joe Gilsenan, Charlie Mullaney and Liam Naughton were deemed most satisfactory. Here one must mention the solid work done during the year by John Green and Alan Cass. Peter Boylan from the J.C.T. showed himself an up-and-coming forward both in attack and defence; his tackling was fearless, and his ability to be always on the ball was rewarded by a good try in the final. Peter, by regular practice, proved a most reliable placekicker.

The team was very ably led by Seamus Deering, who was capable of rising to great heights and of bringing others with him. He gave a great unity to the team in its one objective of scoring tries. That this objective was achieved is shown in the ten tries scored in the Cup campaign, no mean achievement considering the quality of the opposition.

During the Christmas holidays we had old rivals, St. Joseph's Blackheath, as our guests, and we returned the visit after Christmas. We wish to thank the Community and boys of St. Joseph's for a very enjoyable visit to Blackheath. We also wish to thank St. Mary's, Sidcup, for the very enjoyable and hard fought game we had with them.

Our gratitude is due in a very special way to one of our older past students Very Rev. Fr. J. Furlong, P.P. for his kindness in celebrating the joyous occasion by a victory dinner. This was a most enjoyable function which was honoured also by representatives of the Newbridge community and team. To Father Furlong we all say a very sincere "Thank you". While speaking of the Past may we also take this opportunity to thank the Past Students' Rugby Club and the Past Students' Union for their very kind appreciation of our efforts.

Before letting the Press tell the story of the Cup matches, we would like to thank the many reporters for their generous coverage and encouragement during the season.

CUP MATCHES

ST. MARY'S 5 pts.
TERENURE 3 pts.

St. Mary's College with an invulnerable defence beat Terenure College by a goal to a penalty goal at Donnybrook yesterday.

Having pounded the St. Mary's line for the greater part of the second half, Terenure may be said to have robbed themselves of victory, for their backs had the will but not the ability to break a resolute defence. So the dash and skill of the Terenure forwards went unrewarded.

St. Mary's take full honours for an unexpected and brilliantly executed move which deserved to win any match. After twenty-two minutes they heeled from a set scrum about ten yards from the Terenure line, and scrum half Moloney darted away to the left. On finding his way blocked he threw a long pass to out half Murphy who dodged his way over for a brilliant try which Deering converted.

All Terenure gained from their second half pressure was a twelfth minute penalty, kicked by Jenkinson. After that they failed to mount a scoring movement against a team which was splendidly lead by Seamus Deering.

B.S. Nolan (Irish Independent).

ST. MARY'S 9 pts.
BELVEDERE 0

St. Mary's took some time to get into their stride against Belvedere, but once they warmed up they gave a convincing performance to win by three tries to nil.

Their forwards, big, strong and dedicated, eventually overran an equally well built Belvedere eight. It was for the greater part a stern forward tussle with the rival backs filling secondary roles, but here again the St. Mary's boys were more alert and speedier.

Deering led the St. Mary's forwards quite magnificently and the second row pair, Foley and Byrne, were dominant and very effective in the loose mauls. Gilsean, Mullaney and Naughton formed a workman-like front row, and lock forward Hooper was here, there and everywhere.

Half backs Moloney and Murphy knitted in very well together, and Bailey showed great pace in the centre. Sharvin and Saab looked the part on the wings, and Doddy never put a foot wrong at full back. However if St. Mary's are to win the Cup, I feel it will be chiefly through the ability of a very accomplished set of forwards. Belvedere stood up to them well for quite a while yesterday, but finally wilted under a great pressure.

After level pegging for twenty eight minutes, St. Mary's took the lead when a good break by Moloney saw Deering send Foley over for a try. This was the only first half score, but in the second half it was evident that St. Mary's had taken the measure of their rivals.

In the 25th minute, following a line-out near the Belvedere line, Hooper dived over for a try, and near full time Murphy, accepting a pass from Deering following a scrum, went over for St. Mary's third try.

B. S. Nolan (Irish Independent).

ST. MARY'S 9 pts.
CLONGOWES 6 pts.

St. Mary's College qualified to meet Newbridge College in the final of the Schools' Senior Cup on Saturday next with a merited three tries to a penalty goal and a try victory over Clongowes Wood in an exciting semi-final at Donnybrook.

However although they are well worthy of a place in the decider, they were forced to fight all the way against a Clongowes side who staged a magnificent recovery in the second half.

Although they were on the defensive for the greater part of the second half however St. Mary's can look to the fact that they were without their best back, Robin Bailey, for twenty minutes. In a tremendous burst to the line in the 7th minute of the second half he injured a leg in a tackle and his absence allowed Clongowes to make full use of their numerical advantage in the forwards when Deering and then Boylan filled in the vacant position in the three-quarters.

The St. Mary's backs were far better equipped in attack and Bailey and Saab took their chances in fine fashion to account for three scores. Bailey in particular showed great improvement to score twice, while Saab showed great pace for his opportunist score.

"Seagull"! Dermot Byrne sails aloft and takes it down out of the sky.

Gerry Sharvin shows that he had no intention of being stopped this time. A wonderful try which put us in the lead against Newbridge.

T H E F I N A L

The real credit on the St. Mary's side however is taken by the forwards. Foley and Byrne in the second row were very prominent in the line-outs all through, while Gilsenan, Naughton, Deering and Hooper made full use of the ball in loose play.

Although scrum half John Moloney was slow to get the ball away, he lost no time in setting up the move which led to the first score. From a line out he passed quickly to Murphy, and Smyth covered a lot of ground before feeding Bailey who flashed in for a try. In the 16th minute St. Mary's led by six points. Dermot Byrne tapped the ball from a line out, and out half Murphy ran around to take a second pass before sending Bailey over for his second score.

After Bailey was injured in the second half St. Mary's went further ahead. Saab, on the blind side, took another tap back from a line out and ran 25 yards for a try.

In the 11th minute Saab had an attempted clearance blocked down and Prenderville kicked on to start the Clongowes revival with a try.

However in spite of a second score when Early landed a penalty after they had successfully worked a dummy pass from the base of the scrum and Boylan the Mary's wing forward ran offside, St. Mary's held on for a deserved success.

CUP FINAL

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE	14 pts.
NEWBRIDGE COLLEGE	6 pts.

St. Mary's have won the Cup. And long and loud was the victory song of their jubilant supporters at thrill-packed Lansdowne Road yesterday, as St. Mary's College marched on to their second Leinster Schools' Senior Cup victory.

They won by a goal, two splendid tries and a well taken penalty to a try and a penalty from Newbridge, and so gloriously fulfilled their pre-competition tag as favourites to win out and regain the coveted trophy they captured for the first time five years ago.

However, although there was no doubting their superiority and eight points winning margin, they had to fight to the last hectic seconds against a gallant Newbridge XV which was seeking to regain the Cup after 25 years.

Indeed it looked at one stage as if the Kildare College would bridge the gap. They got a tremendous boost with a score inside five minutes and looked to be well on the way to victory when they managed to fight back after losing the advantage, to be on level terms at half time having played against driving wind and rain.

The winners had other ideas however, and gave an np-roaring second half display. Their first strike came 13 minutes after half time, and victory was sealed when they crossed over for another try which was converted 13 minutes from the end.

Newbridge, for all their commendable efforts, just could not counter. To their credit they never gave up, but as the game went on the main differences between the sides loomed larger and the power and greater thrust of Mary's won the day.

While every player in the magnificent winning side earned full credit it was no surprise after the game that captain and wing forward Seamus Deering earned extra congratulatory praise. A son of well known Seamus Deering, an Irish International in the 30's, young Seamus showed every indication of carrying on the family tradition, by playing the game of his life.

A powerful player, Deering transformed what looked at one stage a frustrated side into a success-hungry XV. If Deering was the tactical genius, Dermot Byrne was his main accomplice in carrying out the big win. As number one jumper Byrne dominated the line-outs and gave the better equipped Mary's back line all the opportunities they needed to bring about the scores.

The front row too of Gilsenan, Mullaney and Naughton also provided their share, while Foley, Hooper and Boylan all joined in the success of an all-round better pack.

Scrum half John Moloney provided out half Henry Murphy, and subsequently Greg Smyth and Robin Bailey with plenty of room.

It was Grace who made the initial move for the opening score for Newbridge. St. Mary's full back, Tom Doddy was caught in possession from his lengthy kick; a lightning heel from the resultant ruck saw Berry get the ball away like a flash and start a move which culminated in Kavanagh flashing over in the corner for a try.

However, St. Mary's were undaunted and hit back in the 14th minute. When Newbridge were caught off side at a line out Deering kicked a penalty from 40 yards, but Newbridge struck again and two minutes later had regained the lead when Grace kicked a short penalty.

However St. Mary's like true champions stuck to their task and equalised in the 24th minute when nippy Peter Boylan grabbed an unexpected try after a Henry Murphy—Deering move. The turning point came when Mary's took the lead for the first time 12 minutes after the interval when Gerry Sharvin went over for a try following a blind side move.

Victory was sealed in the 22nd minute. The ball came out from the scrum near the Newbridge line and John Moloney jinked his way through the Newbridge cover to dive down for a try to which Boylan added the points.

SECOND SENIOR XV

If the success of a team is to be judged by the number of matches won, then the Second Seniors were not very successful this year. Of thirteen matches played, we lost eight, drew one, and won four. However things were not quite as bad as they might seem at first sight. First of all our choice was limited because of small numbers in the higher classes. Secondly on many occasions some of the best players on the Seconds were playing with the S.C.T. where illness or injury had taken their toll; and thirdly, the season was not completely disastrous, the proof being that there was a very good team-spirit and I am sure that most of us will retain happy memories of many of the matches played. Furthermore, on many occasions we were not completely outplayed even though we lost the match. To support this it will suffice to recall that although we conceded 131 points we also scored 105.

To come to the matches; most of them were interesting but on some occasions as against 'Rock and 'Nock we threw in the towel a little too easily. The score in these matches was 20-0, and 27-5 respectively. On the other hand there were matches where we dominated the play almost entirely, thus we beat De La Salle 31-3 and CUS 18-5.

The remainder of the matches were entertaining and the quality of the rugby played quite good. Two gruelling battles against Terenure saw us come out losers on both occasions: 9-0, and 3-0. We came out just on top, in the replay against De La Salle, the score being 8-5. We braved the snow in our match against the High School, and did better than they to win by 14-0. Roscrea S.C.T. also visited us on a wet day in January, and we had to share the honours of the day with them although it seemed that we could have pulled it off; the score was nine all. Other teams met were: Belvedere, St. Paul's, Marian, who, it must be said, beat us.

Each and every member of the team was keen and pulled his weight especially when that was most needed. A word of thanks to Frank O'Rourke for his captaincy of the team. He led the pack and rallied them well when the morale was low. And so while wishing next year's Second Seniors better luck, we can still look back on 1965-'66 with not altogether unpleasant memories. We achieved the essential in playing rugby: to enjoy ourselves even if that means losing a few matches.

UNDER 16-RUGBY XV

Michael Walsh captained this year's Under 16's. P. Keogh was vice-captain. As usual our season showed an adverse budget. Nine matches played, one win, seven defeats and one draw does not go down well on the book. However let it be noted that throughout the year we were unable to turn out our best team. To begin with John Moloney moved up to the S.C.T. from the very commencement of the season where he not only retained his place at scrum half but also was honoured with selection for Leinster; Peter Boylan against strong opposition won his place as S.C.T. wing-forward while Liam Naughton was selected for the front row where he played brilliantly. The season failed to get off to an early start due to cancellations on account of rain. It was October 17 before we played our first match against Castleknock when after a hard tussle we lost 9-3. We fielded a weak team against Blackrock and again lost. Then followed our enjoyable excursion to Rockwell where in a match of excellent football we were defeated 14-5 by a particularly competent Rockwell fifteen; however we were conceding age and maturity on this occasion in that we had eleven of the J.C.T. playing. A draw against Belvedere was a satisfactory result to a very even struggle and our spirits revived when we defeated Blackrock in the next match 9-3. There only remained one more match to play in January against Clongowes when again we lost 11-6. But the encouraging feature of the season was the gradual maturing of play on the part of all the players many of whom played from time to time on the Senior XV. In particular Michael Walsh, Paddy Keogh and Derek Greene distinguished themselves here. We missed this year our several encounters against the J.C.T. and we feel that had they practised against us more they would not now be bemoaning the loss of the cup.

SENIOR RUGBY LEAGUE

With the attention of all focused on the Senior Team and their series of triumphs, the league matches were not very much publicised this year. Indeed because of low numbers in Fifth and Sixth years, many of the five teams participating in the league were very reduced, which did not help to fill the expanses of Kenilworth! However some good matches were played under the usual league system, i.e. each team playing the others. This sorted things out and left the teams in the following order: Leinster, Grosvenor, Kenilworth, Rathgar and Cullenswood.

With some time on our hands we decided to have a final play-off to decide the winners. Leinster was therefore given a bye to the final and the other teams fought for the honour of opposing them. These matches proved the most interesting of the League. Rathgar beat Cullenswood 23-12; Kenilworth got the better of Grosvenor by 16-11. The semi-final between Rathgar and Kenilworth was quite a thrilling match. Rathgar quickly got into the lead but overconfidence nearly cost them the match. They gave away three penalties, duly cashed by Brian Godfrey and barely held on to a two point lead: 16-14.

So, on a fine afternoon at the end of March, Leinster and Rathgar took the field, and Fr. Barry got the League Final under way. The match did not quite live up to expectations since Rathgar greatly strengthened by S.C.T. players (S. Deering, J. Moloney, D. Byrne, P. Boylan, A. Cass) proved too much even for the well distributed ability of Leinster. However, the latter fought gallantly; P. McElwee, B. Coyle, W. Sadleir and A. Hughes being prominent in the forwards and G. Smyth getting some good runs in the centre. Leinster even managed to get a goal in the first half against Rathgar's eight points. The second half however was Rathgar's. They pressed consistently and obtained two goals to make the final score 18-5.

Congratulations, first of all to Leinster for their gallant display in the final and also for their consistency during the year; they well deserved the cup for the best house in the School if only for that. Rathgar too are to be congratulated and I would like to mention especially their captain Vincent O'Donoghue. His many efforts to rally his team and organise it were well rewarded by Rathgar's victory.

INTERMEDIATE RUGBY LEAGUE

Chesterton wrote of the Irish that "all their wars are merry and all their songs are sad". He might have been writing of the 3rd and 4th year boys who make the Inter League the strange and complex thing it is. When one is fourteen, or fifteen, or sixteen, there is almost nothing to which one is not liable to object to "on principle." So Gearoid O'Sullivan would plead, "It's not fair, Sir to have Leinster playing twice in a week", or John Elliott would point out that Grosvenor were playing James Gough as a cross-pick for . . . er . . . Sandy Mac Toft. Or it might be Colman Shanley, tears and hair together in his eyes, telling you that six of the Cullenswood team ((including Willie Curran) were down with 'flu. Or it might only be Dodger No. 1, or No. 2, or No. 3 telling you that he had to go into town to buy athletic shorts for the summer. So went the Inter League—conscientious objection, righteous indignation, quibbles over—cross-picks, heart-rending excuses—the "sad song" part of it, and, on top of all that, the "merry wars"—the Wednesday and Saturday games, usually well attended, almost always fought to the finish, and often producing intelligent, entertaining football.

Of the four sections, the Inter league has, I think, the best chance of being successful. Third and Fourth year combined provide adequate numbers for five full teams, and playing strength is unaffected by the absence of J.C.T. players, who do not participate until the final stages of the competition. The standard is improved by the presence of some of the previous year's Junior team and of the current Under-14's, who do not have as many fixtures as other teams. The unpredictable—and most important—element is the enthusiasm of the players. If the boys devote some of their boundless adolescent energy to whole-hearted endeavour on the field, success is assured. This year, I think, they did.

Bill Shakespeare (capped seventeen times as cheer-leader for England—"Lay off, MacDuff", "Lend me your ears", "Fair is foul, and foul is fair" etc., etc.), is at present working on a new play "The Tempest" and was frequently on the side-line, note-book in hand. The plot revolves around the murder, in the middle of a loose scrum, of the heir-apparent to the Irish throne. He felt that only in Ireland could he capture the authentic accents of the rugby field. Here are some random jottings from his note-book :

"Tend to the master's whistle"—Kevin Vaughan defending the Ref.

"There be some sports are painful"—Nigel B. consoling Clifford P.

"A plague o' your throat, you bawling, blasphemous, incharitable dog"—Ronnie Twohig to an unidentified opponent.

"I shall be pinched to death"—was it Frank H. ???

"We cannot miss him . . . fetch in our Wood"—Cullenswood captain.

"There are yet missing of your company
Some few odd lads that you remember not"
—Prefect to. N. Coveney.

"I have been in such a pickle since I saw you last, that I fear me, will never out of my bones"—Willie Curran reports back.

"For this, be sure, to-night thou shalt have cramps"—Fergal to Matt.

"The red plague rid you for learning me your language"—John Elliott to Luciano Cafolla.

"Hell is empty and all the devils are here"
—Frank O'Connor.

"Four legs and two voices—a most delicate monster"—Gerard Byrne contemplating the opposing hooker.

"All things in common nature should produce. Without sweat or endeavour"—Declan Finan.

"A south-west blow on ye, and blister you all over"—Martin Butler to the ref.

"Batter his skull, or pannch him with a knife"—Rocco Cafolla leading the Grosvenor pack.

We have jnst two snippets overheard on the day of the Final :

"If thon neglect'st or dost unwillingly
What I command, I'll rack thee with old cramps,

Fill all thy bones with aches".—'pep'
talk to Leinster team from Gearoid O' Sullivan.

And the Last Post, sounded by Johnny Fanagan as Cullenswood trailed by nineteen points to six :

"All lost ! to prayers, to prayers, all lost !"

Two rounds were played in the league. The first round, which occupied most of the Christmas term, saw Leinster, a strong combination led by Gearoid O'Sullivan, emerge on top, with a total of six points. Cullenswood, Rathgar and Grosvenor collected four points each. Best game of this series was a very keen encounter between Rathgar and Grosvenor, which ended in near-darkness and a 14-13 win for Rathgar. Cup matches and prolonged bad weather interfered with the second round, and it was terminated with three games unplayed. Leinster were again ahead, and advanced to the final. In the quarter-finals, Cullenswood, aided by five J.C.T. "exiles", had a very fortunate win over Rathgar, who were without the services of Kevin Vaughan, their captain; and Grosvenor had little difficulty in disposing of a spiritless Kenilworth side. In the semi-final Cullenswood again had a monopoly of fortune and surprised Grosvenor to the tune of 13-6.

The final was a rather disappointing conclusion to an enthusiastic and entertaining series. Leinster were better equipped in all the strategic positions and completely dominated the forward exchanges. D. Jennings, J. Kearns and M. McCormack gave an excellent supply of the ball to scrum-half Vincent Manning, who played a really brilliant game. Outside him, G. O'Sullivan, G. Madden, P. Kearney, J. White and, for part of the game, usual second-row man P. Maguire were far too astute for their opposite numbers, while Ciaran O'Donnell had a faultless game at full-back. For Cullenswood, L. Grissing, J. Gough, C. O'Conaill, C. Shanley and H. McGuire worked tirelessly, but with little prospect of success. The final score : 19 points to 6.

JUNIOR CUP TEAM

Rarely have we had a Junior Cup Team of so many good footballers than in the season 1965-66. They had come through with an unbeaten record as Under-13's after a season of some twenty-seven matches. We felt we were sound in all departments. At least six of our players were on their second J.C.T. season and that gave a good basis on which to build. Declan Coleman playing as wing-forward was in the best position for a captain while Ciaran O'Connell as vice-captain playing full-back could keep his weather eye on the whole scene in front of him—a happy combination. So with fifteen good players keen on practice and anxious to improve and several more just waiting for the call we had an excellent team in the making.

We got off to a good start with wins against Belvedere and Blackrock and then we lost by the merest of margins (5-3) against Castleknock who managed to defend their beleaguered line against our constant bombardment in the second half. Did we but know it then we were beaten by the team which was eventually to win the cup, but mercifully all that was hidden from us and we went on gaily with the feeling of victory in our ranks. The rest of our matches were all won with apparent ease except that against Newbridge when with a somewhat depleted team we managed to snatch victory as Ciaran O'Connell moved up into the centre and dropped a goal. Then the rains came and in our wettest season on record, match after match was cancelled. Between November 21st and February 3rd we had only three matches in all. In the last match against Blackrock we went down 3-0 on a pitch that was a mud-bath. A penalty taken at point blank range under the posts failed even to get airborne.

More rain followed and in every sense it had a damping effect. We had to forego our usual practices against the Under XVI's and so we found ourselves at Donnybrook facing C.B.C. in the first round of the cup without any match practice. We were beaten on the pip of full time when after an up and down game on a pitch and day which favoured neither side, a charged down kick from John Caffrey was speedily followed up by Dalton their right wing and the touch down secured. The whistle went at the unsuccessful attempt at the convert. So we lost the cup when the 'double' seemed assured. Yet defeat is one thing but the groundwork of solid practice throughout the year is another, so we look forward with confidence to a fine senior team. Outstanding during the season was the fine positional play and kicking of Ciaran O'Connell, the acceleration and following up of Jim Coffey on the left wing, the determined tackling of our centres, John Caffrey and Gerry Madden, the solid forward play of our whole eight where there was no place for laggards. Lastly there was our great utility player Ciaran O'Donnell who could play in any position at a moment's notice and always play well. He was unfortunate not to get his place on the team for the cup match but who knows, he may yet have a senior cup medal. So, full of sympathy for ourselves on losing a cup that we had won in our September hopes, we let fall a tear also for our trainer Father Barry who had us run up the Hell-Fire Club and back twice during our training sessions to give us all the stamina required. So sorry we didn't bring home the bacon !

THE 2nd J.C.T.

If the J.C.T. get the headlines and the press notices it is the 2nd XV in this section, who, we like to think, are sure to please the rugby fans. Not that our matches are all-ticket affairs or that the referee's difficulty is keeping the crowds from invading the pitch. For in the unwritten laws of the college's second-string juniors, fans and players are identical. Of the nine matches arranged for the season we were only able to play five due to bad weather conditions and of these two were won, two lost and one drawn. Ciaran O'Donnell captained us and when not called to higher ranks led us ably. John White was vice-captain and of the many players who turned out during the season Fergns O'Leary, Rocco Caffola, R. Foley, Declan Finan, and Martin McLoughlin for reasons of avoirdupoids, shade of hair etc. caught the eye. The beauty about our rugby is that you have no idea, when going on the field, what the result will be, or how, or when, or where, a try will be scored. You just line up and the word goes round that the game is on. Somehow someone gets the first try and that decides it. This is a day for tries and come they will on that day like Shakespeare's troubles—in battalions. From that on the victory will depend on who scored first.

Our first match—against Belvedere—was rained off. Rain almost spoiled our next game with De La Salle; in fact the match had been hastily cancelled by our respective trainers, too late however to prevent the thirty players from turning up at the ground. And on a day when trainers even did not turn out and the reluctant referee was free to go if he wished, both sides took the field and played with customary rugby sportsmanship the victory going to our team. But congrats, De La Salle! We reached an all-time low against Blackrock in our next match when they seemed to have two men everywhere for our one but, our glass rose again with a victory against Tereuure. Then came a real struggle with Belvedere when we scored reciprocally try for try, ending up 16-16; everyone left the field happy, even the two trainers. One more match only was played, again against Belvedere, who won 12-8 but by that time the rains had come; we decided that the trainers had been right after all and took shelter until the spring days should herald in the tussles of the inter-house matches. As far as it went a good season and no coarse rugby either.

F.C.B.

UNDER 14's RUGBY

Our most formidable enemy this season was, as for the Irish on so many crucial occasions, the malevolent weather. A glance at the fixture list reveals that, of the twenty-three matches arranged, only twelve were actually played. Of these, we won eight and lost four; scored 166 points and conceded 103. This year's team inherited the basic deficiency of last year's Under 13's—a very decided lack of height and weight, particularly in the pack. In addition, the loss of several key players to the J.C.T. left the team not only without some talented footballers, but also, to some extent, without the enthusiastic spirit displayed as Under 13's. Being fourteen, I suppose, has its difficulties.

Captained by Frank Kennedy, with Vincent Manning as vice-captain, we began the season with a convincing 18-8 win over St. Paul's. This was followed by an 8-3 victory over Belvedere, before C.B.C. Monkstown provided a salutary eye-opener in the form of a 9-0 defeat. Though we had the assistance of L. Grissing, P. Andreucetti and D. Corrigan from the J.C.T. panel, for our game against Castleknock, we were more than a little surprised to win 20-0. Against Terenure, lack of poundage in the pack was again decisive and we lost 11-0. Following a rather easy win over C.U.S., we gave a thoroughly spiritless performance against a strong De La Salle side, and crashed to a 33-0 defeat. That was to be the nadir of our fortunes.

The inclusion of Brendan Dunne in the second row and the consistently improving performance by V. Manning at scrum-half contributed greatly to four victories in the remaining five matches. Features of these games were Gerry Sharkey's brilliant score against High School, Dermot Corrigan's two tries against St. Columba's and a tremendous display by V. Manning in our second defeat of Castleknock. In the return game with St. Paul's, we missed several wide-open scoring chances, shadow-tackled and lost 10-9. The season ended, prematurely, on Dec. 11th, with our excursion to St. Columba's, where we eventually won a hectic mud-battle by 11 points to 8, having been led 5-0 early in the game.

JUNIOR RUGBY LEAGUE

The league section of this tournament was not quite as successful as usual. This was mainly due to the calls made on many players by the College Under Fourteen and Thirteen teams, though apathy on the part of some others hardly helped matters.

The return of good weather in the late spring coincided with the return to full strength of all the sides. Interest and enthusiasm sprang up over-night and the championship finished in a blaze of glory and good football.

Having disposed of Cullenswood and Rathgar in hard-fought semi-finals, Kenilworth and Leinster opposed each other in the ultimate tussle for honours. This was a good game, keenly contested and well above the standard of the Minor final. The call of full-time found each side with a respectable ten points. The Leinster side, with their score-hungry captain Paul Greene and ace place-kicker P. Byrne, looked a capable outfit and could well have won the match had captain and outhalf Greene vested more trust in his three-quarters.

Great credit is due to the Kenilworth men (last year as Minors they also won the League) who fielded without one of their stars, E. Wigglesworth. They played a fast vigorous type of rugby and when in the second period of extra time Raymond Geraghty nipped over for the winner, all felt that these were worthy and deserving champs. Best for Kenilworth were scrum-half T. O'Flanagan (capt.) who scored two tries, E. Saab (wing forward) who converted twice and outhalf Geraghty.

UNDER 13's RUGBY

ONE or two outstanding individuals can often pull even a poorish team through against better all round opposition. This is so to a marked degree in juvenile football. It was so in a very concrete way in this year's Under Thirteen Provincial's Cup campaign. Not that Willow Park were a poor team, but few will deny that their captain Waldron left an indelible mark on their victory this year. He certainly badly scarred the St. Mary's defence and wiped out the possibility of taking back the cup from Willow.

UNDER 14's RUGBY XV

M. Burke, E. Saab, A. Bourke, P. Andreucetti, P. Greene, M. Finlay.
M. Colley, G. Sharkey, L. Grissing, F. Kennedy (Capt.), V. Manning, D. Corrigan, T. Lynch.
G. Aylward, P. Byrne.

We opened the year hopefully enough. We had four of last year's team in G. Alyward as captain, E. Wigglesworth as vice-captain, A. McShane and M. Finan ; yet good players as they were, none had the almost impudent confidence so necessary to be the brilliant individualist and the inspiration the rest of the team require, if full victory is to be achieved. Defeat in our first two friendlies did nothing to build up self-reliance in the team.

There was never any shortage of material and competition for places was keen to the very end. Big forwards arrived in abundance in contrast to last year's dearth, but they were truly 'raw material', for boys who are big at this age usually have difficulty in co-ordinating their muscles and are naturally slow and lazy. They badly needed a full playing season to get into real shape, but in fact they came off best in practically all their matches from the beginning to the end. It must have been one of the biggest and heaviest packs in this age group for a number of years, and trainers of older teams who like a big pack could do worse than remember the names of M. Agnoli, M. Fitzpatrick, N. Somerville, F. Mulvey, D. McDonnell as well as E. Wigglesworth. Agnoli and Somerville were particularly good in the line-out, Wigglesworth a leader by example and a brilliant place-kicker and M. Finan as hooker won a lot more 'tight heads' over the year than his opposite numbers. A. McShane, after a spell in the backs, was a fine open side wing forward, while A. Levins' fight and determination finally got him the blind side spot at the expense of J. Harrington who actually 'subbed up' in most games of the season.

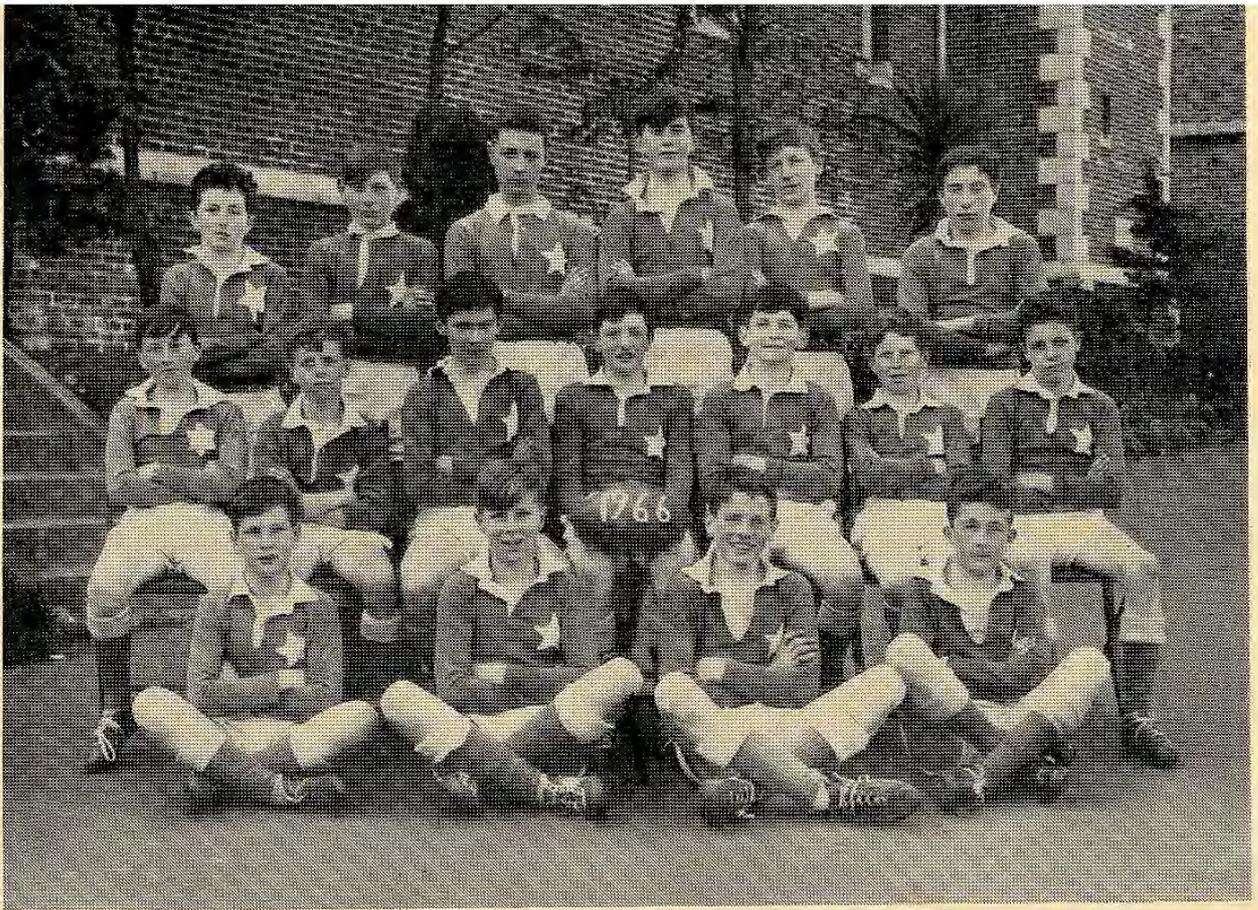

There were plenty of backs too but they nearly all seemed to be scrum-halves or wingers. Out-half and full-back gave most trouble to fill and half the year had gone before H. Arigho and T. O'Flanagan were asked to try their skill. They made the respective positions their own overnight, but they had missed all the early matches and were short of match experience when the cup started. Yet both acquitted themselves very well and have plenty of football ability. It was hard luck on Henry and on the team that he injured his ankle late in the season against C.B.C. Monkstown and had to miss the important return game with Willow Park. With no reserve out-half, T. O'Flanagan was given the vital post for that match and while measuring up quite well, his absence from full-back was sorely missed. So while we had a good enjoyable victory over C.B.C., it goes down in our under thirteen annals as a 'Pyrrhic victory'.

A. Delany proved himself beyond doubt the best scrum-half and a great prospect for the future. Though still under twelve and pint-sized, his all-round grasp of the game is remarkable, while his tackling and spoiling should have put many of the bigger fellows on the team to shame. P. Murphy on the left wing was our most consistent three quarter. He runs really well with the ball and scored at least once in nearly every match he played. P. Mulligan barely beat D. P. Ryan for the other wing berth, mainly because of his size and strength. R. Blake played most of the year in the centre ; he moves the ball well and we sympathise with him for being dropped for the last cup matches because he was not strong enough physically to tackle the huge Willow centre Waldron. Wigglesworth was the only one on the team fit for this and so he was taken out from his lock forward position. G. Aylward was captain and the other centre. He is a very strong runner and scored many fine tries during the year ; he will be an addition to any team if he can become more confident of his own ability and learns to give the ball out at the exact moment.

The record log does not compare favourably with that of the last two teams ; yet it reads well enough. We played 25 games in all, won 19, lost 6, scored 348 points and had 119 against us. Many of the friendlies were closely fought affairs. We narrowly beat Terenure and were beaten in the return. In a third game at the end of the season, we turned the scales in our favour with a 6-3 victory. We played exceptionally well to beat Castleknock 17-0, De La Salle 21-8 and St. Paul's 18-3. Our most remarkable win was against Gonzaga. Down 3-0 with five minutes to go, our team, weakened by 'flu victims, stormed back to score three tries and win 11-3. In the cup, we had two easy wins over St. Michael's, one hard-earned and one easy victory over Blackrock. Willow Park beat us 13-0 in Kenilworth though the score hardly does justice to our continuous pressure in the second half. In the return game with the score at 5-3 late in the second half, Aylward was barely taken from behind short of the line after a clear run through. That tackle by Waldron assured Willow of the cup and we heartily congratulate them on retaining it.

It is worth recording also that others in this age group got a chance of operating against outside opposition. We fielded a 'B' fifteen four times and had three victories. Besides, a big number got one or two chances on the A team to stake a claim, while some, notably D. Wolohan, K. Oppermann and B. Conheady, 'subbed-up' on a good number of occasions. So despite all the cancellations, postponements and disappointments due to the unusually wet winter, it was a reasonably successful season. We hope and indeed expect that this year's group will form the nucleus of many successful teams in higher grades.

MINOR RUGBY LEAGUE

The Minors of 1965-66 turned in a creditable league performance that augurs well for the Junior League of '67. Teams ably skippered by Jerome Harrington, Brian Molloy, David Savage, Donagh Greene and Des Shiels made the five contenders which locked in sportive combat to constitute the League.

The series was played in two rounds, partly to fill the time available and partly because time permitted. The best match of the first round was a 28-28 draw between Cullenswood and Kenilworth refereed by Jack Meade. By the end of the first round the Leinster Lily-whites had collected 6 points. Kenilworth with 5 points constituted their greatest challenge at this stage, while Grosvenor, Rathgar and Cullenswood had made little headway in any respect. However, there was yet another cycle and this was indeed to prove that the mid-campaign scoreboard was by no means a safe indication of the team that would take League honours.

On paper, Cullenswood looked a capable and accomplished side so that their first-round total of 3 had already upset those of us who hazarded an early forecast. Jerome Harrington's lads however, had by no means thrown in the towel as the final race for points was to prove.

The second round was fought with sinewy determination. Rathgar and Cullenswood soon pulled alongside their first-round superiors. In consequence the last few matches of the League generated an intense excitement climaxed by a Cullenswood-Rathgar final.

The Cullenswood side, led by their calculating captain J. Harrington and served by four current under 13's, were odds-on favourites. However, encouraged by the popular support that (rightly or wrongly) accrues to and often sustains the underdogs, and reassured by recent League victories, the Rathgar lads captained by Brian Molloy threw themselves into the final test with a reckless and fiery zeal. Early on, it became apparent that with the foraging of Darrel McDonnell and Danny Doyle in the line-out Rathgar could at least break even in that area. Indeed, first centre Del Rio's opening score for Rathgar came directly from a neat line-out service. A loose maul near the Cullenswood goal line ten minutes later carried hooker D. Wolohan over to make the score 6-0 for Rathgar. Not till the verge of the half-time whistle, did Cullenswood reply when Harrington touched down near the corner.

With Rathgar masters in the forward sectors of play, the second half promised to be an uninspiring series of touch-kicks. Even with a meagre supply of the ball, the Cullenswood three-quarters especially J. Reade, J. Harrington and R. Blake looked extremely dangerous and a well taken opportunity mid-way through the second half saw Blake crash over to equalise. Shrewd, touch-kicking scrum-half for Rathgar, A. Delany, again opened the play but just as promptly closed it up after A. Del Rio had put his team into a three point lead for the third time. The final whistle sounded a 9-6 victory for Rathgar.

Congratulations to Rathgar for a well deserved and hard earned win, and to Cullenswood: better luck next time.

Our thanks to all who at times even defied the elements to contribute towards a successful and enjoyable season.

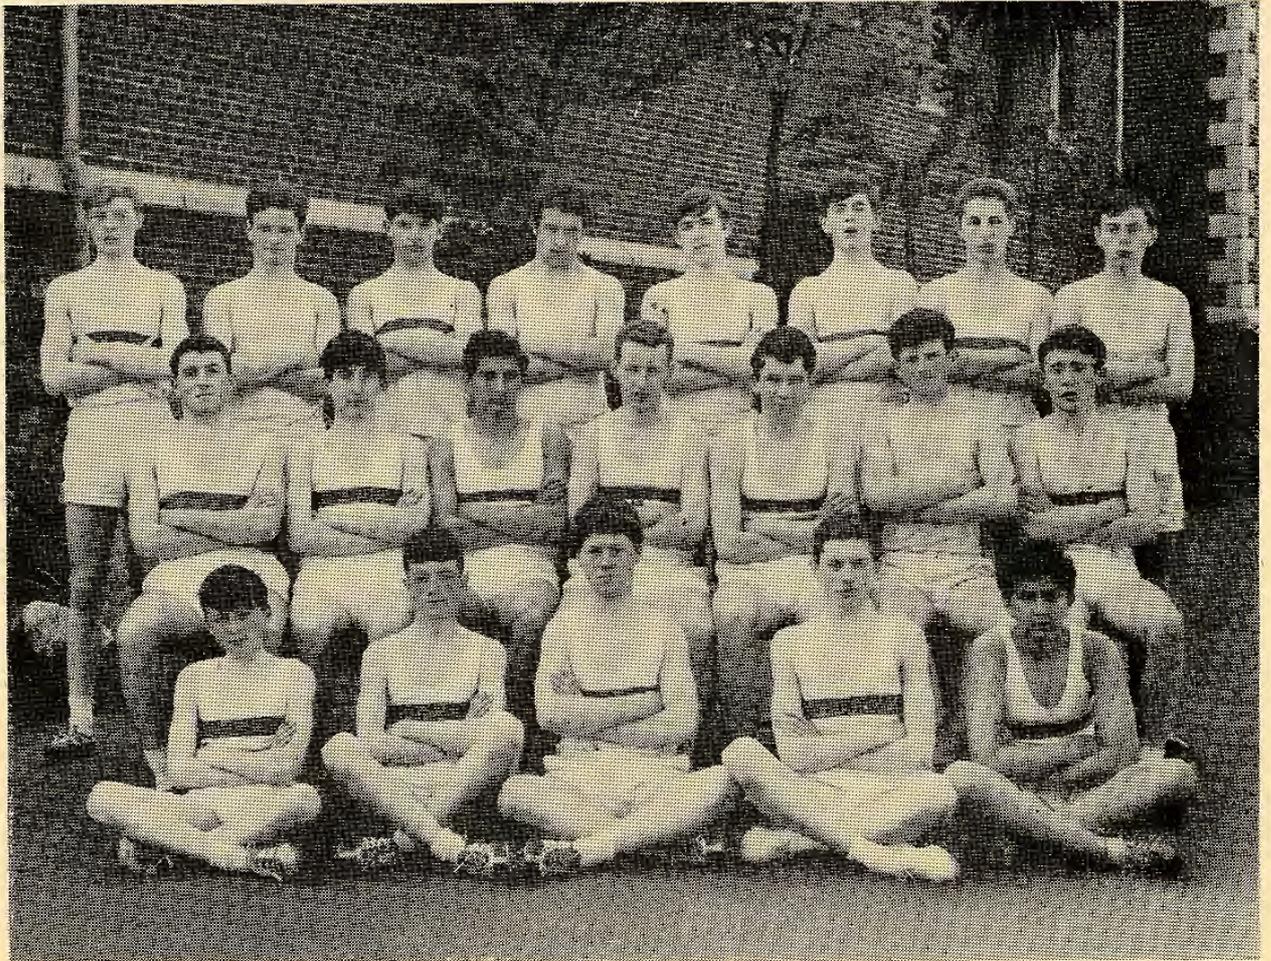

—ATHLETICS—

A long rugby season and a period of very inclement weather at Easter gave our Athletic team little time for training this year. However we were still able to gather a good team and with some more coaching and training we could have added a number of medals to those which we won.

Our only match of the season was against Castlenock in the middle of May. The juniors and Intermediates were not able to maintain the high standard of their Seniors, who won all the events in their section, so we eventually lost the match by half a point. However good performances by G. Saab and S. Deering in the field events, good sprinting by R. Bailey, J. Gilenan and W. Hooper, as well as strong running by H. Murphy, J. Naughton and J. Meade in the middle and long distances, gave us hopes for the Leinster and All Ireland Sports.

In the Leinster Sports, the highlight of the day for our Team was Henry Murphy's 440 yards which he won in 51.8 secs. thus equalling one of the longest standing Leinster records. Henry also won the All Ireland 440 yards. Unfortunately there was a gusty wind that day and his hopes of breaking the record, only 0.4 secs. better than his previous time, did not materialize.

Others who qualified for the Leinster sports in the Senior Section were : G. Saab—Long Jump and High Jump ; S. Deering—Shot ; J. Meade—Mile, and the Relay Team : R. Bailey, W. Hooper, G. Saab, J. Gilsenan. The School Sports clearly showed us that these are by no means sub-standard athletes, and the fact that they were not placed is an indication of the keen competition and lively interest in Athletics in Leinster.

In the Intermediate Section the relay team of J. Moloney, D. Swift, D. Greene, and B. Gunn lived up to its reputation. They came good seconds to Blackrock in both the Leinster and All Ireland Sports, Blackrock beating the record on both occasions. J. Moloney deserves much credit for good running on the two occasions. John also qualified for the Leinster Sports 220 yards but was not placed.

The Junior Athletes were not so successful this year. D. Corrigan ran well in the Leinster 100 yards, and G. Aylward, who is under-13, did well in the High Jump. The Relay team : V. Manning, P. Murphy, D. Corrigan, and G. Aylward were rather unfortunate not to have done better in the heats for the Leinster Sports. Of course our talent is divided between Cricket and Athletics and had L. Grissing been on the Junior Relay team we might well have been more successful. However there is a group of good athletes in this section and the prospects for the years ahead are quite bright.

BASKETBALL

SENIOR BASKETBALL LEAGUE

ALTHOUGH no school team was formed, Basketball was quite popular this year. Matches were played on most half-days during the winter and interest livened considerably at the beginning of the third term. Challenge matches between different sections of the school were quite entertaining and the standard of play was good by the end of the season.

The league too was a source of lively interest even for those not altogether inclined to play games. Basketball at least provides sufficient possession of and running with the ball to stimulate the interest and ability even of those who think they possess none.

For the Senior League, Fifth and Sixth Years were divided into twelve teams of six players each. Lack of time forced us to divide the twelve teams into three groups of four. The winner of each group then played the other. The teams to reach this stage were:

G. Sharvin — Group A
F. O'Rourke — Group B
S. Deering — Group C

In the matches that followed marking was extremely close with the result that the scoring was very low and the games quite rough. They were no less exciting for that. Frank O'Rourke well supported by George Saab and Dermot Conway easily got the better of Gerry Sharvin's team, the score being 18-10. Seamus Deering contributed much to lead his team to victory over the same team: score 10-1.

The final was one of those low scoring, exciting matches with one team leading and then losing ground and falling behind. Frank O'Rourke's team was well balanced. The captain as well as George Saab, Dermot Conway and Brendan O'Meara each had his moment of glory. On the other side, Donal Coleman, Michael Walsh and Joseph Burnell played very well, their efforts being so well supported and guided by their captain, Seamus Deering, that they dominated the last portion of the game. A score by M. Walsh some twelve minutes from the end gave S. Deering's team a 12-11 lead. From then on, F. O'Rourke's side were struggling.

They could only defend to avoid a crushing defeat. The final score was 16-11. And so, Seamus and his team added another medal to their collection. Congratulations to them and better luck to Frank O'Rourke and to the other teams who participated in the league; its success was due to them as well as those who played in the final.

May next year's basketball season be as successful as this year's was. I would like to conclude by thanking Fr. C. Byrne for the time he devoted to Basketball during the year. Much of the success of the game in the school is due to him.

FOURTH YEAR BASKETBALL LEAGUE

EIGHT teams played in the Fourth Year basketball league. The fact that their names were taken from Irish mythology possibly suggests a certain vagueness as to what basketball is all about. There was plenty of enthusiasm, and energy seemed boundless, but there was little evidence of technique and the consistently low scores showed that the standard of basketball in the College has not noticeably improved. Yet, the obvious popularity of the game and the keenness with which almost every match was played, demonstrated unmistakably that basketball could easily become the dominant summer game. Fifth and Sixth year boys cooperated very willingly in refereeing the league games, and Fr. Cyril Byrne was always on hand, almost like the elusive Spirit of the Game, to see that proceedings were in line with the intentions of the Basketball Association. To them must go the credit for the smooth running of the league.

To a great extent the teams displayed the qualities suggested by their names. From the outset, it became clear that Kevin McNamara's Tuatha Dé Danann had inherited quite a share of their ancestor's magic, and they cut a straight path to the final, dropping only one point in an exciting match with Leipreacháin. This elusive outfit, led by Declan Coleman, had their eyes on the crock of gold early on, but dropped valuable points to Fir Bolg and Óglaigh. The onomatopoeia of 'Fir Bolg' suggests a full-blooded enthusiasm for the good things of life, and Liam Naughton, fresh from his hectic front-row exploits with the S.C.T. led his team with fiery energy. Supported by J.C.T. second-row men P. Maguire and D. Jeunings, he had every reason to hope that might could also be right. But he reckoned without those ancient defenders of right and standard-bearers of chivalry, the Fianna and Craobh Dearg. Fianna, with Kevin Vaughan in command, made a promising start but succumbed to the power tactics of Bart McKenna and his Fathaigh, and later conceded points to Leipreacháin and Óglaigh. Craobh Dearg, captained by Gerard Strahan, were soccer players at heart and never felt quite happy about so much "hand ball", though they did have a few wins to their credit. Óglaigh were a "volunteer" group assembled by Michael Sheidan and their volunteer enthusiasm carried them through to the quarter-final stage. Of the eight teams, only Laochra never got their feet off the ground, possibly because the shades of our Irish heroes felt it would be unpatriotic to favour a team led by Italian, Luciano Cafolla.

When twenty-five games had been played, Tuatha Dé Danann had a well-earned place in the final. Quarter-finals between Fir Bolg and Fianna, Leipreacháin and Óglaigh resulted in a semi-final pairing of Leipreacháin and Fir Bolg. This was certainly a test-case of brain against brawn—nimble-footed leprechauns being chased by fire-breathing Fir Bolg—mythology at its exciting best. For once, the little men took a beating and Fir Bolg thundered on to the final. The final was a tremendously close affair in which the teams were never separated by more than a few points. Liam Naughton and his fellow-Fir Bolg—D. Jennings, P. Maguire, B. O'Farrell and J. Cregan—held the initiative for most of the game. Enjoying the lion's share of possession, they threw the ball about with great abandon in a feverish attempt to push up their score. But Kevin McNamara remained completely unruffled under the basket and kept the wolves at bay, leaving F. O'Farrell, C. Noonan, F. O'Connor and M. Johnson to run up a modest 21 points—one to spare over a gallant Fir Bolg side.

Tennis

TENNIS headlines this year must go to our under fifteens who brought our name back amongst the competitors in the Leinster Schools Junior Cup and who acquitted themselves remarkably well in the process. This cup is contested on a league basis with the winners of both sections meeting in the final. We finished with five points out of a possible ten, after being beaten 6-0 by Gonzaga, getting a walk-over from St. Conleth's and drawing 3-3 with St. Paul's, Gormanston and Terenure. We were represented in singles by M. Butler, F. Cluskey and B. McKenna, while these three plus J. White, D. Donovan, A. Bourke and D. Coleman gave seven to choose from for the three doubles. They gave of their very best in all their matches and played some exceptionally fine tennis especially against Gormanston and Terenure. Best tennis of the year at Kenilworth was in the first two doubles against Terenure, where after nearly two hours play both matches finished at the same time in victories for us. With five of these players going forward, we should be able to field a senior team next year, while Donovan and Bourke should hold a junior team together.

Still it is the college tournaments that produce most of the excitement. Entries were again on the increase and in fact all nine courts at Kenilworth were in constant demand during the four or five weeks of good tennis weather. It was the Intermediates who provided most entertainment and good tennis this year again and every round was followed with interest. This section included all the above-mentioned team members but they had not things all their own way. B. McKenna was surprised in the second round by C. O'Donnell who in reaching the semi-final showed what a help he would have been to the tennis team if cricket were not his first love. D. Donovan too reached the semi-final stage with some very fine tennis and at the expense of many fancied players. It was M. Butler and F. Cluskey though who again produced the fireworks. Indeed it was no great surprise to see them reach the final, where Martin got his revenge on Felim the holder with a really power-packed performance in winning 7-5, 6-4. It is interesting to note also that during the holidays he won the Wexford under fifteen title, while in the Leinster open championship he was unfortunate to meet the eventual easy winner C. Sparks at an early stage.

The Senior Tournament was a very open affair with honours deservedly going to Tony Higgins. Kevin Byrne ran him rather close in the semi-final, bringing him to three sets. In fact Kevin played some remarkably good tennis to dispose of D. O'Brien, B. O'Meara and P. Leamy along the way. From the other half, Paul Ward emerged as finalist though there was little between himself, Brian Godfrey and Peter Caffrey. Tony beat him 6-1, 6-4 in the final.

In the record entry for the Junior Championship, two names seemed to stand out from the winning. It was hard to see anyone but S. Conhe Paul Murphy or Gerry Aylward and though they reached the final. Here they had a really great battle with Aylward eventually coming from 3-5 down in the last set to win 6-4, 3-6, 7-5. On the way to the final, each got one notable fright. A. McShane contested every point with Aylward, while Murphy had to pull out all the stops to beat J. Lee. Since these four are under thirteen still, we fell confident that the lifeline to College tennis teams is secure for the present.

Despite the late start then to the tennis year because of sodden courts, it was a successful season. The all-round standard has certainly improved and it was gratifying to see some of the juniors having the confidence to enter the open Leinster, All Ireland and Nestle's competitions. As well as M. Butler, F. Cluskey, B. McKenna, D. Donovan and A. Bourke had reason to be proud of their efforts against the best opposition. Not only is such a spirit of enterprise commendable, but it is a step in the right direction towards a happy adult life, since tennis is undoubtedly a very useful social medium for later life.

This was the first time that the cubs had camped in Courtown, although the Troop were there with Brendan Corcoran in 1957. The camp was an unqualified success and all cubs are looking forward to next year's camp already.

Denis Kirby took over as Scoutmaster this year and made a great job of the Troop. Eighteen new scouts were invested in December at the annual investiture. Many hikes were undertaken in the course of the year and great progress was made in testwork. Whit week-end was spent at Navan and Summer Camp was in Plymouth.

Fr. Darcy who took over from Fr. O'Carroll as Chaplain has fitted in extremely well. We are confident that he will prove to be one of our best Chaplains yet. As well as taking many individual awards the Unit retained the Diocesan Sports Shield for the second year in succession at the Sports in Santry. We also won the trophy for the Panama road race. We hope to retain these trophies in the coming year. The Unit took part in the International 'Jamboree On The Air' on Saturday and Sunday 16th and 17th October. The troop beat the 77th Blackrock College by 19 pts. to 5 in a rugby match on Sunday 27th March. Cullen Murphy who was a P/L in the Troop last year has returned to the United States where he will rejoin the Boy Scouts of America. The South City Area Field Days were held in Kenilworth Square on June 25th and 26th. Our Unit provided an exhibition of First Aid under the war and is now almost completely re-built. The shopping centre is the dream of any Irish housewife as it is all contained in a rectangular area in the centre of the city. There are also many suburban villages surrounding the city.

In the course of our stay we visited the Navy dockyards at Devonport where among many vessels of numerous designs we saw the "Ark Royal." On our Troop outing we visited Dartmoor Prison (we were not allowed in or we might have had to stay), Buckfast Abbey and Torquay. We attended a camp-fire in the grounds of Wembury House, the home of Sir Henry Studdam the retired Conservative M.P. who is Patron of the local scout association.

Our camp in Devon was most enjoyable for many reasons not the least of which were the good weather and the hospitality of the local people. We never met a friendlier people on camp before than the Devonians. They went out of their way to see that we enjoyed ourselves; we shall never forget them for it.

We returned home on Tuesday July 12th. The Patrol Competition was won by the Lion Patrol under Paul Delaney. The Lions led the competition for almost the whole of camp and the standard set by them ensured that the overall standard of the Troop was good. The soccer competition was won by the Wolves (P/L Jim Kelly) and the Treasure Hunt was won by Paul Andreucetti's Stags.

Senior School Sports

The important topic on the morning of June 5th, 1966 was the weather. It was feared that Sports Day would have to be postponed as the weather was very unsettled. However it gradually picked up and by 3.15 p.m. the day had turned out quite fine. Mr. O. Dunne, the starter, duly got the track events under way, while the Senior High Jumpers made their first attempts to clear the bar; the first bars of light music from the I.T. & G.W.U. Band came pleasantly across the field and the afternoon promised to be quite entertaining.

Our hopes were fulfilled, if only on the Athletic side, where no less than eight records were broken, and where we witnessed some exciting races with close finishes. In the Juvenile section Gerald Aylward added his name twice to the record list—for the 100 yards and the 150 yards with times of 11.55 secs. and 17.6 secs. respectively. Gerald also won the Junior High and Long Jumps. Paul Murphy had to be satisfied with second places in the Juvenile section but ran very well. With these two good runners, the future of Athletics in the College is assured.

The Junior Section (Under 14) provided a lot of interest this year since most of the events had to be fought out to the last and no one competitor was outstanding; Liam Grissing won the 100 yards and 880 yards, the latter being a new event. Vincent Manning was only inches ahead of Dermot Corrigan in the 220 yards and Maurice Agnoli had the longest shot-put.

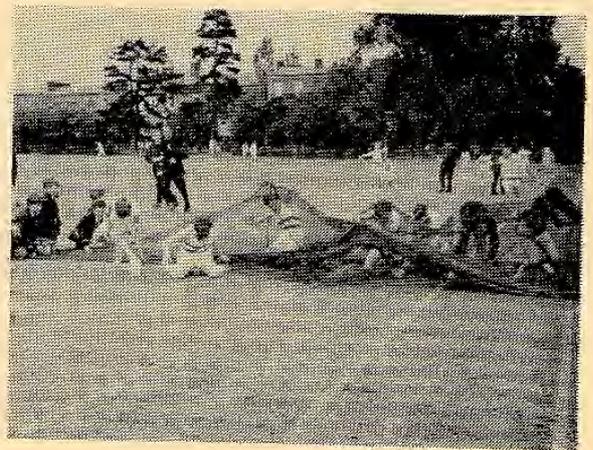

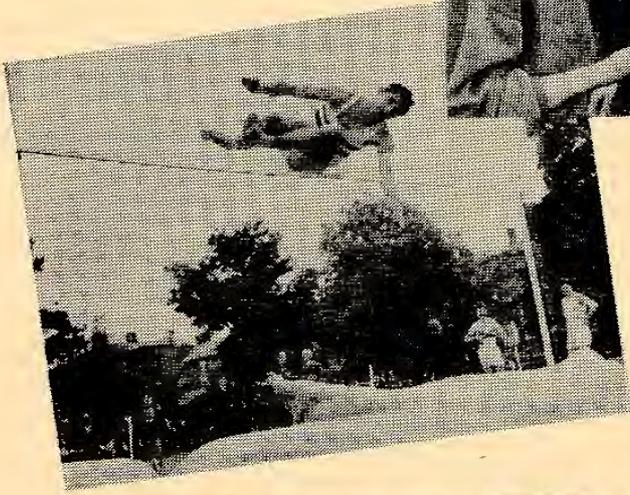

It was quite a different story in the Under 16 section, where one name was called out again and again. It was John Moloney's day with a vengeance, for he was first in the 100 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards, High Jump, and he helped his team to win the relay, where a new record was established: 49.3 secs. for the 4 x 110 yards. Congratulations to John on a truly remarkable performance. However, if his achievement was outstanding, we would be wrong to forget the efforts of Brendan Gunn, Michael Walsh and Peter Boylan who laboured very hard but with less success.

In the Senior Section we saw a mighty duel between George Saab and Henry Murphy. George, who won the Victor Ludorum award last year, was not going to let it slip away easily, but Henry's all-round ability—he came second in the mile and was only inches behind Robin Bailey in the 220 yards.—won the day. Both should be heartily congratulated, for in the end Henry was only one point ahead of George, and both broke records: Henry in the Long Jump (20' 9"), and George in the High Jump (5' 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ "). Other good performances in the Senior Section were the long distances, where John Naughton established two records: the Mile (4 mins. 46 secs.) and the 880 yards (2 mins. 2 secs.). The sprints were won in great style by Robin Bailey.

To crown an entertaining afternoon, the Present Relay Team: J. Gilsenan, G. Saab, W. Hooper and R. Bailey won an exciting race against the Past Team. Mrs. Redmond, wife of the President of the Past Pupils' Union then presented the trophies to the winners and so we came to the end of another Sports Day. To those who had made it enjoyable and successful we owe a word of special thanks. Chief among these are the competitors whose names were not called out to receive a medal or who are not mentioned in the annual. Unfortunately no sports meeting is possible without losers: we thank them and wish them better luck next year. A special word of gratitude also to Mr. J. C. Carroll and the I.T. & G.W.U. Band, to the Professors and boys who acted as Starter, Judges, Time-keepers, and Stewards and to the Ladies Committee who provided the welcome cup of tea during the afternoon.

THE SENIOR CRICKET XI

Captain : C. Jones
Vice-Captain : A. Higgins

1966 will be remembered just as another cricket season. There was nothing spectacular about it, nothing exciting about the matches. It was the second season of the cricket league and with some six matches to play there was little time left for friendlies. However we managed to play the West Indian Students on April 27th but rain put an early end to play when we faced a score of over 80 for 3 wickets and replied with 35 for 5—a draw. Soon we were involved in the league matches with the first encounter against Blackrock. On a day of brilliant sunshine, batting on a soft rapidly drying wicket, we could only muster up the meagre total of 36 and Blackrock seemed all set for an easy win when disaster soon befell them also and they found themselves 23 for 6. But from that on their fortunes turned and a few loose balls were hit to send the total round to 37 for 6 and that was that. On that day low scores were recorded in all the schools' matches, some even worse than our own and so we blamed the ground and our stars, not ourselves. We won the next match by eight wickets against St. Paul's who totalled 67, and we took new heart. The following match against Wesley was a replay of in and out of the rain. Despite that, Wesley ran up fifty runs in the first twenty minutes or so and amassed a total of 169 in a little over two hours. We had no hope of reaching it in the conditions and were content to draw the match with a reply of 70 for 5. Three further league matches remained to be played. Against Gonzaga we lost by eight wickets and then we won against St. Andrew's by nine wickets. High School having already won our section of the league at this stage, obviated the necessity of playing the remaining match against them. It was a pity that we had to travel under strength to the two most enjoyable matches at Clongowes and Glenstal respectively. We did well in both even though defeated (by 6 wickets against Clongowes and by 8 against Glenstal). Glorious cricket weather on both occasions provided ideal conditions which our inter-departmental weaknesses could not avail of. Nevertheless they were the most enjoyable matches and surely this is of the essence of good cricket. In the matter of individual progress and achievements we can think of the hard toiling of our pace-bowlers, Charley Mullaney and Michael Quinlan, of the all round play of our captain whose improved fielding and spells of bowling were on a par with his batting where he led the averages. He was rightly chosen for the Leinster team. Examinations intervened to provide a more serious interlude before our last match against St. Columba's. But by this time lack of practice and the end-of-season 'malaise' had blunted our edge and we lost a match that should certainly have been drawn, thus ending our season where we began, where most cricket matches are lost or won—in the field. A few simple dropped catches and we were defeated, when with the respectable score of 75 we could well have been on the credit side.

THE 2nd SENIOR XI

Our chronicle is briefly narrated. What can you do when in a season of rain, rain, rain your already truncated fixture list is reduced to two? As I sit down to write I feel like a player listening to the raindrops on the roof of the pavilion, while even the illumination afforded by the door is obliterated by the white-coated umpires watching the pools of water getting bigger; and groaning inwardly as the seagulls begin to alight and scamper up and down in search of worms. It was Derby Day when we played Belvedere in the sunshine at Leinster grounds. They won the toss and the unwritten law of 2nd XI cricket dictated going in first. Besides, the television set in the pavilion was working. We did the chivalrous thing and fielded despite the temptation to call it a day—and lose the match. Mixed fortunes attended the batsmen as they treated every ball on its merits—which means in 2nd XI parlance “hit it” and in a short time they were 61 all out. Father Barry then left to go to the interprovincial match between Leinster and Munster at Cabra, and just as well, for we didn't do handsomely with a miserable 21 all out; seven players made 2 runs between them. We put it down to losing the toss and having to bat second. True enough we did better in our next match against St. Columba's reaching fifty runs for the loss of only two wickets after of course winning the toss. Then the batsmen seemed to get some remorse of conscience about not leaving enough time to our gallant opponents to bat and a few careless jabs here and there kept up the procession to and from the pavilion but gave us finally the useful enough total of 75. Columba's made short work of that score, making it in the treble-quick time of twenty-five minutes and left us wondering whether they had also managed to squeeze in a short film in town before catching the bus back to their college. So ended our season. Cricket played with abandon and certainly enjoyed. Brian Godfrey was our captain and Matt Shallow our vice-captain.

This year's Junior team had had an impressive record in two successive years as under 14's. We reached the final of the Junior cup last year and there were several from last season still available—J. Caffrey, P. Delaney, J. Kelly, to mention only a few. We had succeeded in winning the Under 14 Cup last season and from that team there were Liam Grissing, Paul Andreucetti, R. Kinane and E. Wigglesworth. Added to this, there was a good spirit combined with sound batting strength, keen fielding and sufficient bowling. Liam Grissing and C. O'Connell led the side and hopes of a successful season rose as things got under way. An early friendly against C.U.S. with a draw in our favour gave us some idea of our potential strength but a win over St. Andrew's by nine wickets, if it gave us grounds for self-complacency, was offset by a crushing defeat against Clongowes on a day when nobody did well. In a very even match against Wesley we passed victoriously on to the semi-final against Blackrock. This was our day when everything seemed to go well. Liam Grissing made a sterling 59 and we ended up with the fine score of 136. But 'Rock fought back in two batting efforts for a total of 81; they might well have won were it not for our all-round good fielding and for the many catches held. On to the final. This was played in the very best of conditions in the grounds of Clontarf C.C. High School, our opponents, had two years previously stemmed our advance in the Under 14 Cup. They looked a good team as they went in to bat after winning the toss. Our bowlers John Caffrey and Paul Delaney plugged away for an hour—too long perhaps in the circumstances—with little or no fruit. At the tea break we had them 59 for 5. Then on resumption of play a few cheap runs slipped the total round to 79 when wickets began to fall like ninepins and they finished up 82 all out. Not a great score but as it proved, sufficient to beat us. Without minimising the accuracy of the High School bowlers, over-caution perhaps was our undoing. An odd slip here and there and we were several wickets down for about thirty runs. Liam Grissing as usual stayed as sheet-anchor at one end but when after about an hour he too went, he had only scored five runs. The hero of the day was Paul Andreceutti. Realising it was up to him to do something, he took his courage in his hands and hit vigorously. He was rewarded with a glorious 29 but it was not enough to give us victory and with only 62 runs on the board the cup eluded us for the second successive year. Still, it was a fine and enjoyable match. Congratulations to the High School Juniors who gave heart to their seniors to win for their school a second trophy. Maybe with this team we shall reverse the fortunes two years hence. Keep it up Juniors of 1966!

INTERMEDIATE CRICKET LEAGUE

The nostalgic value of starting one's story with "once upon a time" parallels somewhat the tendency to report on sporting events always in reference to the weather—the weather is bad and impairs the best efforts, or is good and thus favours the sportsman. Well this year the last term opened under an April so jealous of its traditional reputation that it was difficult to distinguish between the showers. Preparation of creases etc. was delayed and a good two weeks of term had spnn by before the league got into swing.

From Third Year and half of Second Year, seven teams were picked by captains: Gerry Walsh, Rocco Cafolla, Joe Boland, Brian Grimson, Noel Kelleher, Paddy Cullen and Hugh Magnire. There were many matches to be played so practically every evening found Kenilworth the scene of a tussle for league points. A delightful equality of strength and ability was evident amongst the teams,—a tribute to the captains who selected them and it wasn't till well on in the campaign that any definite superiority in points appeared on any side.

Then came the semi-finals and the ebullient atmosphere of urgency that would envelope the closing stages of the league.

In the first semi-final, Leprechauns chose to field first. They had a good bowler in Martin Davey, but clumsy fielding and unforgivable misses of what were indeed easy catches cost them dearly against an eager and attacking side captained by J. Boland. The story of the Leprechauns' innings is contained in the news that their first five were out for duck. West Indies easily qualified for the final.

A rather like picture is painted by the combatants in the second decider, where P. Cullen's XI (Clontarf) fell to Rocco Cafolla's 'Rockets' Cafolla himself taking 6 wickets for 14 runs.

It was bewildering indeed to witness what looked like dispirited collapse on the part of the losing teams in both semi-finals, especially after such consistent displays throughout the league. The cause? Perhaps an unnecessary nervousness generated by a profitless over-anxiety to win.

The final between Rockets and W. Indies was played after the close of term. Having won the toss, Rockets decided to bat first. Opening batsman Martin McLoughlin, after a short period of cool defensive batting was

'got out' (LBW) for 2 runs, and this was the first of five wickets taken in quick succession by J. Boland whose hard accurate bowling must be mainly responsible for his side's fine win. Rockets were all out for 19, and we might have expected W. Indies to equal this tally without the loss of a wicket, but the 'never-say-die' attitude of every man on the losers side did account for 3 before the curtain finally fell.

A word of thanks to Richard Foley for his assistance in umpiring throughout the season, and also to Paddy Cullen for the innumerable times he did score-keeper.

JUNIOR CRICKET LEAGUE 1966

The Junior League, drawn from a combination of First and Second Years would normally suffer from a drain to the Under-14's, but this year selection of teams took into account probable Under-14's and more or less left them aside. This meant that the operation of the league could in no way conflict with the Under-14 programme, nor was the cross-pick system nearly so often called upon as, say, in the same age-group of the Rugby League which included the members of representative teams.

Vincent Keenan, Ambrose Sharpe, Donal Barker, David Fanagan, Danny Hickey, Joseph Rafter and Martin Gately skippered the seven teams that participated in the league. Standard of play was by no means high though the experts tell us it showed an improvement on the previous year. Certainly there was a great interest all round throughout the season, and no match was played without some measure of "side-line" support. The boys were keen and are therefore to be commended, for the success of such ventures depends largely on them.

It was not possible to put the league through a full cycle because of limited time, so we were forced to revert to the knock-out championship method coming to the end of term. Even so, a date for the final could not be found till after the close of term, and unfortunately, the day fixed turned out most unsuitable weather-wise. The consequences of this situation were not happy, for it would be difficult to re-fix a date (since term had ended and the boys scattered). However, many of the uncertain ones rang for information and the wise ones assumed that the match would be played the following day.

So the "following day" came, and a goodly number turned up.

D. Fanagan, more blessed in numbers than his opponent A. Sharpe, allowed some of his men to field with Nato, and even agreed to certain of that side batting twice.

Losing the toss, M.C.C. had to bat first and gave an excellent account of themselves making a total of 91 before the last wicket fell. Tony Levins, with 17 runs and Donagh Greene with 35 were best on the day's showing. Nato lacked a bowler, though Seamus Smyth (who was called upon as an afterthought) took 4 wickets.

The M.C.C. bowlers, D. Greene and D. P. Ryan took a long time to settle down and sacrificed 42 runs for only 3 wickets. At this stage it looked like either team's game. Single runs and an occasional 4 were the only bright-spots in a snail-like procedure which eventually brought the losers to 69 all out. Opening batsman for Nato, T. Dalton, was "not out" on the fall of the last wicket.

Lasting from 3.15 to 6.45 p.m. this must have been one of the longest Junior League Finals in School history.

The genuine interest evident throughout the league and the apparent enjoyment derived from it are just cause for calling it successful.

UNDER FOURTEEN CRICKET 1966

Anyone faced with the task of recording a team's fortunes for the season has—unless he's honest—two alternatives before him. If he is lucky enough to be able to look back on a season of brilliant success, there's no real problem—his only difficulty is to choose some plausible superlatives. But if—as will normally be the case—success has eluded the team or has not been entirely brilliant, he must fall back on his own version of that very dependable angling anecdote about the one that got away. And in cricket there's any amount of reasons why the ball is not hooked, or caught or . . . This year, I think, we've got to do some explaining as to why the Leinster Cup got away from us, though it's well to remember that we were beaten only by the two teams which reached the final—Willow Park and Gonzaga.

We certainly had bowlers : Peter McLaughlin, even better than last year, returned an average of 3.9 ; Brendan Dunne, tremendously fast but lacking a little in accuracy, averaged 4.3 ; Gerry Aylward started late in the season and improved with every match. And as change bowlers P. J. Farrell, Dick Blake and Alan McShane didn't concede very much and took a fair share of the wickets. Eddie Wigglesworth, as keeper, let through very few byes and had several smart stumpings to his credit. On a few occasions, Alan McShane deputised for him with remarkable success. It took some time to muster the best available batting strength, but eventually a quite competent side was established, and we recorded an average of 63 runs per match as against 46 conceded. Eddie Wigglesworth had the best individual average, with 17.5 per innings.

Excellent bowling, competent batting—why, then, did we not have a consistently better performance ? Fielding never reached the high standard of last year, and the 25 catches made in 11 matches were rather unevenly shared—A. McShane having 7 to his credit. Not one catch was held in the slips, though frequent moves were made in an effort to secure the best placing of the field. What the team lacked, I think, was the determination to make every phase of the game contribute towards eventual success. In cricket, which depends so much on unpredictable factors—the weather, the pitch, the toss, the temperament of individual players and even the umpires—there can be no let up, no resting on one's oars (which is another way of not calling a spade a spade). Success can be achieved only at a price—the price of hard practice off the field, alert and concentrated performance on it, and an enthusiastic team-spirit at all times. Let's hope we learn.

Vincent Savino, just back from Cyprus and captain of Clontarf this year, was frequently with us during the season and we are really grateful to him for the time and energy he devotes to his coaching sessions. Our thanks must go also to Fr. Barry, who did so much early in the season to limber up rugby-rigid limbs and introduce the younger boys to the wiles of cricket. Up with the bat . . .

The season opened rather late with friendlies against C.U.S. and High School. We won both and then crashed to a seven wicket defeat by Willow Park. In this match, only Aidan Delany made any resistance and we struggled to a total of 34. In the first league match, against Terenure, we failed completely to capitalise on inaccurate bowling and were all out for 56 runs, of which E. Wigglesworth made 30. Terenure's batting, however, was weak and P. McLaughlin and A. McShane shared the bowling to dismiss them for 25. Against Sandford, also in the league, we lost two wickets for only 7 runs before A. McShane B. Dunne and D. Blake came briskly to the rescue, enabling us to declare at 71 for 4. On a hard wicket, fast bowlers P. McLaughlin and B. Dunne were in sparkling form and dislodged Sandford for 26. Wesley gave us a sharp fright, running up 62 runs (our fielding was deplorable on this occasion) and leaving us little more than an hour to catch up. We saw some very exciting running and a few close calls, before the total was passed in exactly an hour, with five wickets still standing. Our exit from the league came at the hands of Gonzaga. A bright opening by T. O'Flanagan and A. Delany yielded 17 runs for the loss of the first wicket. At 26 for 2, Wigglesworth was most unconvincingly caught. Panic set in, and in face of varying spin bowling from Geoghegan, we lost three wickets without advance. Dick Blake added a quick 7 but was completely without support. Gonzaga had little difficulty in reaching a target of 35—to which their captain, T. Lewis, contributed 22 not out—with six wickets still in hand.

Our champagne cricket came only when we had no further interest in the league. Against Clongowes on Whit Mouday, we ran up 95 runs and Brendan Dunne, with a devastating 8 wickets for 3 runs, gave them very little chance to reply. The highest score of the season was reached against Belvedere. McShane 30, Wigglesworth 30 not-out, and O'Flanagan 12, each played some delightful cover shots and accounted for most of the 105 for 6 declared. Belvedere were unfortunate in conceding three run-outs and made a total of only 37. The last match of the season was rather dull, but provided the most exciting finish we had seen. Masonic had made 49, leaving us an hour to overtake them. At 27 for 2 in thirty-five minutes, we seemed set for victory but tight bowling kept the runs in check and at the start of the last over we needed 3 to win. Aidan Delany hit one, another came on a bye, but the last three balls went unpunished; we had made exactly 49 for 6 and played our only draw of the 1966 campaign. A suitable comment, perhaps, on the achievement of the season.

JUNIOR SCHOOL GAMES

★ RUGBY ★

SOME time back, the "day that the rain came" was a popular song. Looking back on the 1966 period it could well be called "the season that the rain came". It seemed at its worst each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. This led to the postponement of many fixtures.

UNDER 12's

The Under 12's had only three representative games. In these games the team never got working as a unit. The weakness seemed mainly in the forwards, where lack of weight told heavily—as Willie Ryan will remember. Our first opponents were Gonzaga—a strong and powerful set of lads for all their eleven years. It was an extremely windy day which militated against good rugby. In a scrappy game St. Mary's were defeated 6-3, Derek Bennett having the honour of scoring Mary's only try. St. Michael's Under 12's were not so tough an opposition. In this game St. Mary's struck a purple patch. The score read 20-6 for us. Our return match with Gonzaga resulted in an 8-3 defeat.

The present Under 11's should see that the tables are turned next year.

T. Kennedy, A. Ward, W. Ryan (Capt.), D. Bennett, D. Hooper.
D. Quinlan, R. O'Farrell, D. Hughes, G. Boland.

UNDER 11's

This team is taken as the true representative of the Junior School. Although playing few games they maintained a high standard.

The first home game was against Gonzaga. In a dour hard fought game, we won 6-3. Scorers for St. Mary's were Declan Howard and Thomas Shanahan. In a match against St. Michaels we won 18-3. This was a marvellous game to watch. An unusual feature was the scoring of both wingers, Henry Reardon and Denis Hooper. The St. Mary's team was ably led by Willie Ryan whose side steps put many a man astray. Let us hope these lads continue this fast and open rugby.

UNDER 10's

The Under 10s were the real victims of the Irish weather. All their fixtures had to be postponed. However names like Declan Howard, Paul Oppermann, Paul McGovern should blossom forth in next year's Under 11's.

THE HOLY CHILDHOOD LEAGUE

This year we had 6 teams in the Senior League with the fanciful names of Ireland, France, All Blacks, Springboks, Lions and England.

Willie Ryan was thrilled to lead the Irish XV, while Donal Greene led the All Blacks. During these games little Willie Ryan showed how rugby should be played. His performance in all games marked him out as a worthy winner of the new Sportsman of the Year Award.

The final was played on 3rd April. Many hold that the team wearing red jerseys always wins—so we waited to see. Willie's team was in blue, Donal Greene's in red. Within minutes the All Black XV had scored but referee Fr. Barry correctly disallowed the score because Donal was supported by 16 men! After 10 minutes however, Dermot McGillicuddy scored for Ireland. It was not converted. Ireland were playing with the hill. Paul Rafter scored a beautiful try after a long run down the wing. Half time score 6-0 for Ireland.

Ireland strove to hold their lead. Donal's team came back and tries by burly Patrick Shaffrey, Aidan McCullough and captain Donal Greene made the score 9-6. With 15 minutes to go Willie Ryan tried every trick he knew to get the all important score but he failed, Donal's team in the red jerseys had won the day.

The Minor League also brought a win for the team in red, Ulster, led by Declan

Howard. His opponents were Leinster in blue, led by Paul McGovern. Ulster depended on Declan Howard for their scoring, while Leinster hoped that Paul Oppermann might win the day. All eyes were on these two from the word go. Unfortunately Paul Oppermann because of a leg injury, never got into his usual stride. Declan did however, and scored 18 pts. for his team. Paul McGovern tried to rally his men but with Oppermann clearly off his game, it was in vain. Late in the second half Terence McDonagh managed to get Leinster's only score. Declan was ably helped in his team's success by Colm Sheerin, the Cunningham brothers and Joseph Tozer.

—SOCCER—

SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP

AS with most city schoolboys the game of Soccer is very popular in St. Mary's.

In the last weeks of the year their plea for soccer games was answered. Because of shortage of time the games were on a knock-out basis.

Junior 5 and 4 united for the senior section while Junior 3 had a grouping of their own. Four teams made up the Junior 3 section. Team captains were Paul Oppermann, David Levins, Dermot McCarthy, and Gerard Conheady. In the first semi-final we had a thrilling match between Gerard Conheady's and Paul Oppermann's team. Even with extra time the score remained 1 goal each. However Gerard's team won on corners. The second semi-final was a high scoring game. It was a typical "lá breá gréine" so the boys were exhausted at the final whistle. David Levins had brought this team through by a one goal margin. Score 6-5.

The final was played on June 7 in the front field. This was another close game. Gerard Conheady won 1-0. Promising young players are Paul Tatton, Niall Smith, Richard Hughes

SOCCER LEAGUE

JUNIOR 5 AND 4

The games in this section were also played on a knock-out basis. Having drawn the first semi-final Anthony Ward's team eventually won a replay against Denis Hooper's XI. This left Ward's team into the final. In the second semi final Brian Merren's XI beat Terry Kennedy's team in a lifeless game. The final between Ward and Merren was played in the front field. The soccer here never reached a high standard and Anthony led his team to another victory, the margin being 6-1. In the couple of games played Anthony Ward was the outstanding player. Others to shine were Dermot Nevin, and Eric Byrne.

JUNIOR SCHOOL CRICKET

Each year we run-off two rather extensive cricket leagues in the Junior School. They go under the time-honoured titles of the Junior Cricket League and the Minor Cricket League.

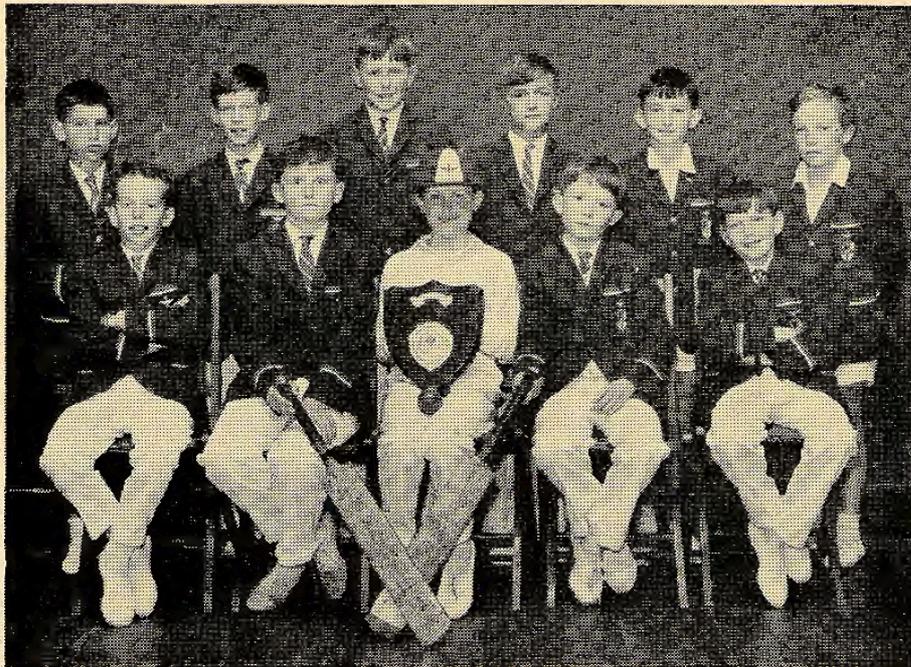

JUNIOR CRICKET LEAGUE

The Junior Cricket League is confined to boys from both Junior Five classes. The number of teams which contested this year was six. This statistic alone is a fair indication of the popularity of cricket in the Junior School during the Summer term.

Each game of the series was played with seriousness and enthusiasm. Martin McDonnell's XI won all its matches very competently with wickets 'galore' to spare and, as a result, batted and bowled its way to the final. The virtuosi of the side all through the league, were the skipper himself and Anthony Ward. John Quinlan's team was next highest in number of points, and so his team was drawn to play McDonnell's in the final.

On final day, as both teams took to the field in their brilliant whites, there was all the sense of occasion and tenseness of a test match. McDonnell won the toss and he and Ward went in to bat. John Quinlan and Ciaran Callan took each successive over in the bowling. A desperate duel was now in progress, with nothing being given away on any side. Runs were slow in coming. Suddenly, the pendulum of fortune swayed, Callan bowled a "rasper" to Ward and skittled him right and proper. Ward was out for five. After about ten minutes of relentless bowling Quinlan took McDonnell's wicket with a splendid full toss. McDonnell was out for seven runs. The fall of these two wickets spelt disaster for the top scorers of the league. The onslaught was on: "the Assyrian came down like a wolf on the fold." McDonnell and Co. were all out for 34. John Quinlan's side had no trouble in clocking up 35 runs and consequently became the worthy victors.

UNDER 12's CRICKET TEAM

A few words have to be said about this year's under 12 representative matches. The players are selected from the Junior Five boys. John Quinlan was captain of this year's team. Our outstanding cricketers in these highly competitive inter-college games were, undoubtedly, John Quinlan and Derek Bennett. Their most splendid performance was against Belvedere College, away in their grounds. Derek opened the batting for St. Mary's and sixty-five minutes later he was the last Mary's man out. He was fielded very well by a Belvedere man, having made 44 runs. On the same day, John took 6 wickets by his very competent bowling.

JUNIOR 4 CRICKET

The Minor League this year was somewhat colourless in comparison with the Junior 5 one. Nevertheless, there was evidence of both talent and enthusiasm throughout the league series. Six teams contested for honours. In the later stages of the league things reached a stale-mate. Four teams were chalked down for the same number of points, with an equal number of matches played. The teams were: Eric Byrne's XI, Gerald Delany's XI, John Connolly's XI, and Shaun Poutch's XI. It was decided to have two semi-finals and a final.

The final was a splendid mixture of improvisation, talent and many other rare ingredients. Eric Byrne's side and Shaun Poutch's took the field with great verve and panache. A very keen and interesting game was promised. Byrne's team went in to bat first. Despite the fact that they were constantly harassed by a fine barrage of bowling from the opposing side, they managed to make fifty, all out. Poutch's side then faced the music but, to the chagrin of many, the tune was short lived. In ten brief minutes Poutch's men were all out for only ten runs. Suddenly, an unprecedented thing occurred, the captains began to discuss the prospects of a second innings. After about thirty seconds in solemn conclave, it was decided to have another innings each. Well, the net result was, that Eric Byrne's team emerged as clear winners.

JUNIOR SCHOOL SPORTS

SATURDAY, 21st of May, the day for the Junior Sports had arrived. Thanks to the great work of Mr. O'Rourke the Front Field was looking its best. Although not a brilliant day the multi-coloured flags along the touch lines wafted merrily in the breeze. The trim green grass made a wonderful background for the many white lines.

The famous Rathmines clock chimed, and struck out the appointed time. Unfortunately even at this late hour our public address system was giving some trouble, so the usual drill display was somewhat late in commencing. Under the able leadership of our P.T. instructor Mr. Dunne, the boys accomplished their display.

With the sound of marching feet fading into the distance, the field was left clear for Juniors 1, 2, and 3, to show their skill. The Sports field was for them up to the Interval. This arrangement suited for the early events, but it certainly put quite a strain on the boys in Junior 4, and 5. These boys had to compete in an increasing number of consecutive events. The winner of the Victor Ludorum, Paul Rafter, is to be highly commended if only for overcoming this difficulty.

In order to give the Junior 1's and 2's an opportunity of showing how things should be done, Junior 3's were the first to come under the Starter's orders. Here old rivals, Rodney O'Donnell, Paul Oppermann and Declan Howard, fought out the finals to the last yard. Declan came first in the 100 yds. Paul got first in the 150 yds, while Rodney had to be content with third place in the 100 yds. Neil Smith gave a great display in this great battle of the above trio. He finished very strongly in the 150 yds. to get third place.

The 70 yds. dash for Juniors 1 and 2 had its usual thrills and spills. John Murphy had the thrill of winning for Junior 1 followed, oh, so closely by Anthony Cahalane. Juniors 2 and 2¹ each had a race of their own this year. John McManus of 2¹ won his first medal in his new school. That speed merchant, Eugene Collins succeeded like last year, in winning the 70 yds. dash for Junior 2.

With the Three-legged-race about to start, one could imagine many of the boys wishing that they were that "Peg with the extra leg," and so have no need to be spangled to a partner. Raymond O'Higgins and Francis O'Gorman outstripped their classmates in this event.

This year the obstacle race for 2's and 1 had in addition to the usual net a 3ft. barrier to be scaled. Seeing the fine efforts of these youngsters one may wonder if there be a grain of truth in the theory that man is descended from the monkey. Some of us at least! John Murphy was the winner for Junior 1. Sheamus Linehan for Junior 2¹ and Bruce McKell climbed over to success for Junior 2.

With all competitors eventually supplied with "egg" and spoon, the egg and spoon race commenced. It was noticed by quite a few that the speed of the race was well up on former years. Maybe it was the judicious use of one's fingers that led to the improvement in the time factor. Here Simon Burke was the best for Junior 1. Brian Mooney for Junior 2¹ and Brendan Sheehy for 2.

The interval concluded—it was time for Musical Chairs. This is a game for which it is essential to have a good ear, in order to keep one's chair. Here our Public Address System again decided to call it a day. So for the first time we had the Whistical Chairs as one boy called it—a Prefect, blowing a whistle at the most inopportune time, for some. The usual fun and scrambles were had by all. It is amazing how fast one can jump off a moving cycle all for the sake of a four legged chair. Patrick Shaffrey was the winner for Junior 5's, while Gerard Delany, on a ruling by the judge that he had three-quarters of the seat and more important, that he had it first, was awarded the prize for Junior 4.

Junior 4's had three events this year; the 100 yds., 150 yds, and the relay race. The 100 yds was a fight to the finish between Gerard Delany and John Marks. Gerard just managed to breast the tape seconds ahead of John. Connor Molloy was a gallant third.

The 150 yds. brought Lee Healion his second medal—winning his first in the Long Jump competition. Terry O'Higgins was second with Eric Byrne third. The Relay was a very close affair with Lee Healion's team in the bright yellow singlets overcoming all other teams. They went into the lead right from the start and were worthy winners. Harry Reardon just pipped Joseph Doddy in the High Jump competition. With the events so arranged so that a boy from Junior 5 must win the Victor Ludorum, these events were keenly watched. Before the Sports many speculated on the eventual winner. Would it be Eoghan Redmond, Paul Rafter or James Jordan? As the meeting moved on, it became clear that the winner of the Gilmore Cup would be Paul Rafter. The continuous stream of races failed to take toll of his stamina and he ended up having three firsts, a second and a third, thus giving him a total of twelve points. The runner up was Eoghan Redmond with seven points. This was a marvellous display by Paul and let's hope he keeps up his interest in athletics in the Senior School. He makes running look so easy with his long powerful strides that one gets a false impression of his speed.

So it was Paul who stole the limelight of the Sports. Second place to Paul was no mean achievement for Eoghan Redmond; others to add to the closeness of events were, James Jordan and William Ryan, the "Sportsman of the Year."

The 220 championship was the closest contested event in the crowded programme. Denis Hooper came first just holding off the late challenge of Eoghan Redmond.

So ended the Junior School Sports. We must thank all those who helped to make it such a success, under some trying conditions. To Mr. O'Rourke must go most of the thanks. He laid down the track and skilfully nursed it to perfection. To him also is due the credit for the organisation. To Mr. Dunne, Mr. Doyle, at the starters' line; teachers Miss Browne, Miss Murphy and Mr. O'Mahony; to the announcers, the scouts and to all our many helpers, is due our most sincere gratitude. Mrs. Bennett mother of the Junior School captain presented the prizes. Her warm smile, and her charm in fulfilling the most important event of the day, was appreciated by all.
